What the owner says:

"I've owned this property since 1988, and it has been fascinating to watch the area evolve over the years. Back then it was 'up and coming,' but today it's the heart of a vibrant community. I've seen the wonderful coffee shop culture and independent spirit of Central Hove steadily creep westwards, making this pocket of Portland Road a truly great area to live. Ideally situated within the catchment area for the highly regarded West Hove School, making it a perfect choice for young families. The flat is within easy walking distance of both Aldrington and Portslade train stations (perfect for London or Brighton commuters) and is served by major bus routes along Portland Road for quick access to the city center.

What I've always loved is the lifestyle it affords; I spent years enjoying the daily bike ride along the seafront into Central Brighton, and having the beach and local parks just a short stroll away was perfect for giving the children space to play and explore. The flat itself feels like a sanctuary (especially on hot summer days when it always stays remarkably cool); the garden is a beautiful morning and early-afternoon sun trap—perfect for a quiet coffee before the day starts. It's been a fantastic property that has stood the test of time, and I'm sure the next owners will enjoy the perfect balance of seaside living and city convenience as much as I have."
