Situated in the sought after rural Cornish village of Breage, this spacious four bedroom semi-detached character house offers a wonderful blend of period charm, generous living space, and exceptional outdoor areas.

A standout feature of the home is its impressive outside space. To the front and side there is parking for a number of vehicles, while the substantial rear garden boasts extensive lawned areas and an abundance of mature plants and shrubs, providing an idyllic setting for outdoor entertaining or relaxed family living. The house benefits from the comfort of double glazing and central heating.

Adding further appeal is the detached annexe/outbuilding, which offers excellent potential for buyers keen to create additional accommodation, whether as a dependent relative's suite, guest suite, home office, holiday let, or additional income stream, subject to the necessary planning and consents. A second outbuilding currently serves as a workshop.

Breage is a picturesque and highly regarded village nestled in Cornish countryside, offering a wonderful balance of rural tranquillity and everyday convenience. Rich in history the village is home to the impressive 15th-century Church of St Breaca, a popular pub, post office and village stores, primary school and an active local community. The market town of Helston provides a comprehensive range of shopping, leisure centre with indoor swimming pool and educational facilities. The stunning Cornish coastline, including the beaches at Praa Sands and the fishing village of Porthleven are just a short drive away.
