Property Description

Oakleigh is an attractive detached cottage occupying a lovely, elevated rural location with amazing views and yet under 3 miles from the City Centre of Hereford.

The spread out parish of Ridgehill encompasses a variety of different styles of properties and is well placed for amenities on Holme Lacey Road, such as shops, a filling station and public house, also well placed for access to the Rotherwas Industrial Estate and within Much Birch (3 miles) there is a primary school, doctors' surgery and church.

The original cottage has been updated and extended, and has oil-fired central heating and double-glazing, but offers excellent scope for further extension, updating or even the potential for the construction of a replacement dwelling (subject to planning consent). There are well established gardens and enclosed paddocks which extend to just over 4 acres and there are numerous outbuildings.

'A little piece of heaven' and has been offered to sell for the first time since the 1970s and the truly spectacular views really do have to be seen to be appreciated.
