PRICE GUIDE £290,000

This bungalow is believed to have been built in the early 1960's and occupies a generous level plot within the hamlet of Reskivers just outside of the village of Tregony. Having been in the same family ownership for about 50 years the property has recently been refurbished throughout and is now available to the market in excellent condition and ready to move into without expense. The three bedroom accommodation is notably light and airy and whilst ideal for a wide range of persons there is plenty of scope to further extend the bungalow, subject to any necessary consent. Early viewing is essential.

Reskivers is essentially a hamlet about half a mile from the village of Tregony and mostly comprising a nucleus of individual cottages and larger traditional properties. It is a delightful hamlet with most of the houses accessed from an unmade lane just off the A3078 Truro to St. Mawes road and this particular property lies furthest from the road well away from passing traffic. The village of Tregony is almost within walking distance and here there are a good range of facilities for everyday needs including shop and post office, pub, churches and both primary and secondary schools. The hamlet is also located at the head of the Roseland Peninsula and hence it is easily accessible to a host of scenic coastal locations including Portholland, Portloe, Portscatho and St. Mawes. There are a selection of safe sandy beaches along the south Cornish coast and there are numerous footpaths in the immediate vicinity.

The bungalow is of conventional cavity wall construction with rendered and painted elevations under a concrete tiled roof. The bungalow has been geared for low maintenance with replacement double glazed windows, uPVC soffits and a good level of cavity and loft insulation. Recent refurbishment has included complete redecoration both internally and externally.

In greater detail the accommodation comprises (all measurements are approximate):

OUTSIDE

A driveway leads into the bungalow and around to the rear where there is potentially parking space for several vehicles. Gardens extend largely to the front and rear and whilst the front includes a variety of specimen shrubs and a mature green hedge (alongside the entrance drive) the rear garden is in grass and provides further potential for landscaping and planting. The ruins of a shed lie at the very end of the garden whilst alongside the frontage there is a further stone and cob OUTBUILDING approximately 20' x 12' and which incorporates an old inglenook fireplace which suggests it was formerly part of an ancient cottage.

SERVICES

Mains water and electricity. Private drainage.

NB The services and appliance have not been tested by the agents.
