GENERAL REMARKS AND LOCATION

This interesting property is tucked away at the end of a private drive in lovely mature grounds and adjacent to a sweep of open farmland and over which there are splendid views. Formerly a traditional stone barn the property has been sympathetically converted with the original "roundhouse" now a magnificent main living space. There are 3 bedrooms with the primary bedroom having an ensuite wet room in addition to the main bathroom. A spacious hallway opening off the entrance hall provides a feeling of light and space and especially being open plan to the kitchen and main living area in the roundhouse. Outside there are easily maintained mature gardens and adjoining the barn there is a useful traditional outbuilding suitable for storage/workshop. There is parking in the driveway.

Nantellan lies about one mile north of the village of Grampond in a truly unspoiled rural location. The village of Grampond lies on the A390 between Truro and St. Austell and offers a variety of local facilities for daily needs including shop and cafe, church, primary school, pub and village hall. The village has the benefit of a regular bus service and is also close to the picturesque attractions of the Roseland Peninsula and the south Cornish coast. The city of Truro with its fine Cathedral, major shopping centre and main line railway link to London (Paddington) is about nine miles. St. Austell is about six miles.

THE DWELLING

This is largely stone built under a slated roof and with multi-pane windows attributing to its character. Internally there is a comprehensive system of oil-fired central heating as well as a newly installed wood-burner stove in the main reception room. Areas of paving extend around the dwelling and landscaping includes low stone walling and areas planted with perennials.
