Beautifully Presented 4/5 Bed. Character Village House, Gardens, Car Parking for 4 Cars

Drapers House, West Buckland, Barnstaple, EX32 0SF

Set in the heart of this popular North Devon village, this handsome character house has been the subject of a comprehensive and beautifully considered refurbishment by the current owners since 2012, blending period charm with the comfort of a genuinely well run modern home. Every improvement has been carried out with real sympathy for the building's age and character, from lime plastering to let the fabric breathe, through to a bespoke fitted kitchen and beautifully restored fireplaces throughout.

As you step through the front door, the character of the house is immediately apparent. The hallway is laid with tiles, and picture rails run through this and all the principal rooms, a small but telling detail that speaks to the care taken throughout. Original brass door and cupboard fittings remain where possible, with the remainder thoughtfully replaced with iron latch handles in keeping with the age of the property.

The living rooms are full of character, each with a Victorian fireplace complete with pine surround and slate hearth, reinstated by the current owners after these had previously been removed. It's a lovely example of putting back what time had taken away, and each room now has a proper focal point to gather round on a winter's evening. The main living room retains its solid oak flooring, adding real warmth underfoot.

The sitting room is a particularly inviting space, with its own restored display cupboards, now beautifully lit, and a charming window seat built in by the current owners, the sort of spot that becomes everyone's favourite corner of the house for a quiet read or a morning coffee. This room enjoys quality engineered floorboards to the rear.

DETAILS

At the heart of the home is a bespoke kitchen by Ashgrove, redesigned and installed by the current owners to a genuinely high specification. There's an oil fired Rayburn alongside a Range Master electric cooker, generous granite worktops, and an island with pop up sockets and device charging points, a lovely modern touch tucked discreetly into a classic design. The kitchen also houses the boiler supplying hot water and heating to quality radiators fitted throughout the house, all chosen to sit comfortably within a period property. Floors here are tiled, continuing through from the hallway.

The utility room has been refitted with a butler sink, cupboards, shelving and wooden worktops, practical and good looking in equal measure, with slate flooring underfoot. Alongside, a downstairs shower room has been newly installed, with a large walk in shower and rainfall shower head, a genuinely useful addition for family life or muddy boots after a Tarka Trail walk.

Moving upstairs, the staircases are carpeted, leading to bedrooms with their original floorboards sensitively stripped and stained rather than covered over, letting the age of the house speak for itself. The box room is the exception to the restored fireplaces, but otherwise each bedroom retains its own Victorian fireplace. The main bathroom has also been beautifully refitted, with a roll top bath positioned beneath a remote controlled shower with rainfall head, and its own reinstated fireplace, a lovely, indulgent space to soak away the day. Also on the first floor, a carpeted office benefits from its own separate staircase and access, a genuinely useful arrangement for anyone working from home, as the current owners have done, allowing a proper day's work without ever feeling like it's spilling into family life.

Throughout the upper floors, and indeed the whole house, timber sash windows by Robeda have replaced the originals (with the exception of the office), again chosen specifically to allow the building to breathe as a period property should.

West Buckland sits within a mile or so of the well regarded West Buckland School, and a mile north of the A361 North Devon Link Road, giving easy access to Barnstaple (7 miles), the administrative centre for North Devon, and the market town of South Molton (about 5 miles). The village itself has a strong sense of community, and is within 3 to 5 miles of Goodleigh, Brayford, Filleigh, Chittlehampton and Swimbridge, which between them offer a good choice of village inns and restaurants, primary schools, local shops, post offices and places of worship. The village offers that rare and much sought after combination of rural peace with genuine convenience. The dramatic North Devon coastline is within easy reach, with beaches and surfing at Saunton, Croyde and Putsborough, through to Woolacombe to the west, and the rockier coastline running from Mortehoe through to Lynton, Lynmouth and on towards Porlock to the north. The A361, just over a mile to the south, gives convenient access to junction 27 of the M5 near Tiverton, where Tiverton Parkway station offers journey times to London Paddington of approximately two hours.

Across the road, and equally private, a further garden offers a lawned area, off road parking, a garage and a charming summerhouse. This second garden has been enclosed with a stone wall and fencing, including willow fencing behind the summerhouse for extra privacy, a real sun trap spot to make your own. The garage is supplied with electricity, including internal and external lighting, and benefits from an electric car charging point on its own separate meter.

DIRECTIONS

From Barnstaple take the A361 westwards towards South Moton and Tiverton. At the new bridge at West Buckland, about 5 miles, turn left and proceed up the country lane into the village. As you pass through the village the house is the second to the left after the turn left to the Church. On initial visit it may be best to park in the Church car park and walk back around although the car park for the property is immediately opposite the house.
