The property is located within the Minions Conservation Area and the village of Upton Cross has a primary school, public house and the well renowned open air Sterts Theatre. Within walking distance of numerous moorland beauty spots and public houses, the property is ideally suited for those looking for easy access yet seclusion and privacy.

DESCRIPTION

A true piece of Cornish history, believed to have been constructed as miners' cottages in the mid 19th century and built from local stone. Today, this beautifully renovated country residence now stands prominently as one dwelling combining timeless character with refined contemporary finishes, creating a stylish and practical family home of considerable quality with a versatile layout offering six double bedrooms in total.

There is further potential to enhance the overall appeal of the property with a range of outbuildings and 10 acres of mixed land which offers fantastic income, lifestyle and business opportunities subject to any necessary consents.

ACCOMMODATION

The property is presented in excellent order throughout, having undergone a range of substantial home improvements including upgraded flooring, many of the walls insulated and re-plastered, the addition of a sun room, newly installed appliances and upgraded bathrooms to name a few. The porch has been rebuilt to create a welcoming entrance, with a tiled floor, built in storage and a cloakroom. A superb open-plan kitchen/breakfast room, thoughtfully designed for both everyday living and entertaining, merges seamlessly with a light-filled adjoining sun room. There are three further reception rooms including the sitting room, dining room and formal lounge all of which have woodburning stoves fitted.

The ground floor is complete with a generous double bedroom with en-suite shower room and a small utility room with a range of base and wall mounted storage, work surfaces and space/plumbing for white goods. With a separate entrance, this end of the property would lend itself as a self-contained annexe for a relative or potential income stream.

On the first floor, a triple aspect double bedroom lends itself as a self-contained suite with a partially vaulted ceiling, a steam shower room, two walk in wardrobes and ample built in storage. The first-floor accommodation further comprises four generous double bedrooms, all beautifully presented and offering spacious and versatile living arrangements. The family bathroom completes the first floor with a rolltop bath and separate shower.

OUTSIDE

From the start of the private driveway there is level access directly to the front of the property and a designated parking/turning area for vehicles. Formal lawns are laid out to the front of the property, with a partially built outdoor kitchen area and an individually designed dual chamber wood fired hot tub. The lower gardens are dedicated to orchards, wildlife areas and an enclosed allotment style garden with a former polytunnel and wide range of fruit bushes.

The land is mainly laid out to pasture, having been organically grazed over the last 12 years. To the western end of the land is a pasture field, fenced, with stunning mature oak trees standing proudly in the centre. There is also a wildlife pond and a gate to the south-facing field, which has direct access onto the bridlepath located at the rear. Two further pasture fields are located near the eastern boundary, with access from the lane and one from the south-facing field. Along the northern boundary is a dedicated area of woodland with pathways for walking and admiring the spring flowers such as bluebells and primroses. Behind the house, the south-facing field has a fantastic space for outdoor seating and entertaining with a willow dome, firepit, outdoor kitchen, and a tree swing from a beautiful oak tree. This field hosts a variety of fruit trees and bushes.

Further complementing the property is a substantial stone outbuilding with water connected, offering excellent potential for ancillary accommodation, studio space, workshops or further development subject to any necessary consents.

Set within an idyllic rural landscape, the property remains highly accessible, offering that rare blend of peaceful country living and excellent connectivity, with immediate outriding access onto the open expanses of Bodmin Moor.

OUTBUILDINGS

A particular feature of the property is the impressive range of outbuildings, making the property an attractive opportunity for those looking for workshops, storage, stabling or additional accommodation subject to gaining the necessary consents. At the start of the driveway is a single storey barn, which has been partially repointed and reroofed, with water connected. We are informed by the current owners that the barn has lapsed planning permission to be converted into holiday accommodation. There is a large wooden stable block comprising three stables, a tack room and hay store. There is a large workshop with power, light and water connected with additional store rooms at the rear. A separate former piggery offers further storage, also with power and water connected.

Constructed by the current owners is an open sided but covered roundhouse with power and water connected, and floor laid to bark chippings. Offering further potential is a beautiful stone and slate outbuilding positioned within the grounds beneath an impressive oak tree. With permission, this offers a fantastic opportunity to create some additional accommodation if desired and a possible income stream.
