Known as Hayford Mill or Cambusbarron Mill, this Grade A listed building was built in 1834 and was once the largest tweed weaving mill in Scotland. Successfully converted into apartments, the development offers tranquillity and is surrounded by rolling hills and greenery.

This particular apartment is situated on the first floor and has really nice outlooks at the front over the aforementioned scenery. At the front of the development there are ample visitor and resident parking spaces with neat well maintained garden areas and spaces to sit out just beside the access to each of the blocks. The main communal security door opens into a nice modern entrance area with stairs at the far side and also the benefit of a modern lift accessing each of the floors.

Internally the apartment extends to just under 900 sq ft which makes an excellent sized living space for a successful purchaser and throughout the property there is fresh decoration, lovely high ceilings and double height windows providing lots of natural light from the front. There is great storage throughout the apartment including wardrobes in both bedrooms and two hall storage cupboards and a particular feature of this property is the fact that both the bathroom and the en suite shower room were completely replaced within the last 12 months.

The accommodation comprises entrance hallway with large walk-in storage cupboard at one side and a further cupboard at the far side of the hallway.
