Directions

Newmarket is a market town in the English county of Suffolk, approximately 13 miles east of Cambridge and 65 miles north of London both accessible via train from the local station. It is generally considered the birthplace and global centre of thoroughbred horse racing and a potential World Heritage Site. Along with being home to the country's largest race horse training and breeding centres Newmarket is also a major local business cluster, with annual investment rivaling that of the Cambridge Science Park, the other major cluster in the region. The town has been a centre for British royalty since James I and was also a home to

This two bedroom property is located right next to Newmarket train station and is a short walk away from the High Street. Local supermarkets including Tesco and Waitrose are a five minute drive away
