The principal living room is an especially attractive room, with generous proportions and a substantial inglenook-style fireplace forming its focal point. Beyond this is a cosy snug, offering a more informal everyday sitting area.

A particular feature of the property is the addition of two glazed garden rooms/conservatories. These provide valuable further reception space and create an excellent connection between the house and gardens, with extensive glazing allowing far-reaching views across the grounds and surrounding countryside.

A welcoming central entrance hall, cloakroom and connecting hallways complete the ground-floor accommodation.

First Floor

Stairs rise to the second floor, where two further bedrooms provide particularly versatile additional accommodation.

One is an impressive room measuring approximately 28'7" x 15'4" at its maximum dimensions and benefits from its own en-suite bathroom. With its generous proportions, this could make an excellent main bedroom suite, guest accommodation or a combination of bedroom and sitting area.

The remaining bedroom is another substantial double, measuring approximately 14'10" x 12'8".

Both rooms occupy the upper part of this characterful period house and feature areas of reduced ceiling height associated with the roof structure, adding further individuality to the accommodation.

Outside

Coveys Ley stands within approximately 1.75 acres of attractive gardens and grounds which provide an exceptional setting for the house. The gardens are predominantly laid to lawn and wrap around the property, interspersed with mature trees, established shrubs and attractive planted borders. The scale of the grounds gives the property an appealing sense of space and privacy while retaining a manageable, garden-led feel rather than being predominantly agricultural.

There are numerous areas from which to enjoy the setting, with the glazed garden rooms opening directly towards the lawns and enjoying views across the grounds and adjoining countryside.

Garage & Outbuildings

One of the property's most distinctive features is the substantial detached timber-framed garage and barn complex, providing approximately 1,921 sq ft of additional accommodation. The building includes a particularly impressive double garage measuring approximately 26'7" x 20'6", together with a further garage, outbuilding/workshop and garden store. A staircase gives access to a substantial first-floor loft space above the garages, measuring approximately 35'11" x 13'5", together with an additional adjoining area. The building offers tremendous flexibility for the storage of vehicles, workshop use, hobbies or other ancillary purposes, subject of course to any necessary consents. A separate garden room within the grounds provides an additional place from which to sit and enjoy the gardens.
