Hardwick Close, Ripley

Mikaela says:

“From the outside, this home on Hardwick Close is pleasantly understated – but step inside and you'll quickly realise there's far more to it than first meets the eye.

With parking for up to four vehicles on the driveway, practicality starts before you even walk through the front door. Once inside, the surprises begin.

As you enter, the first thing that catches your eye is the modern oak & glass staircase, a beautiful addition. Another standout features is the incredible cinema room, complete with a starlight ceiling and soundproof walls. Whether it's movie nights, gaming sessions or simply escaping with your favourite box set, it's a space that's guaranteed to impress. Not only that, this could be used as a fourth bedroom if needed!

The ground floor also offers a dedicated home office, a convenient guest WC and a comfortable living room. Sliding doors connect the living room to what is undoubtedly the heart of the home – a stunning extended kitchen diner.

This is the kind of kitchen that effortlessly brings everyone together. Packed with cupboards and drawers (more than enough to fill!), integrated appliances, a central island and plenty of space for dining and entertaining, it's both stylish and incredibly practical. Large doors open directly onto the garden, while the sliding doors to the living room keep the whole ground floor feeling connected and sociable.

Upstairs, you'll find three generous double bedrooms, all benefiting from fitted storage. The third bedroom deserves a special mention thanks to its clever fold-down bed system. By day, it's a spacious home office with a large desk; by night, it transforms into a comfortable double bedroom, making it a genuinely versatile space that adapts to your lifestyle.

And then there's the garden, with mature trees, colourful planting and a variety of spaces to enjoy throughout the seasons. A patio area provides the perfect spot for relaxing or entertaining, while the surrounding trees create an exceptional sense of privacy. With nothing but mature greenery behind and to the side, it offers a peaceful retreat that's increasingly hard to find.

Located in the popular town of Ripley, with excellent transport links, local amenities and countryside nearby, this is a home that combines practicality, personality and plenty of surprises along the way.”
