IF YOU LIVED HERE...

The first thing that sets this Victorian end-of-terrace apart is its sheer convenience. Park up on your neat brick driveway with space for two cars and no fuffing about with permits or parallel parking. Just unload the shopping (or the kids) and head straight for the stylish glazed front door tucked under a characterful archway.

Step inside, and a beautiful herringbone wood floor leads you down the hallway towards the extended kitchen/dining/reception. But first, on your left, there's a separate front reception room that still wears its Victorian soul proudly: an original tiled fireplace with dark wood mantel, ornate ceiling coving, and a proper ceiling rose. The wide bay window, soft carpeting, and forest-green walls give it the air of a refined drawing room that actually wants to be used.

Carry on through and you'll find the kitchen/diner, a space that works as well for quiet midweek dinners as it does for larger get-togethers. Light pours in through bifold doors and a generous lantern skylight over the prep area. A run of white cabinetry houses integrated Bosch appliances, while a wide island bar beneath triple pendant lights invites you to linger with coffee or wine, with room for four to perch comfortably. With space for a full dining table and a sofa, it's a room that's built to flex. You'll also find a downstairs WC and a handy utility room perfect for muddy boots, dogs, or both.

The garden stretches over 45 feet, beginning with a broad paved patio that flows onto an immaculate lawn framed by smart timber fencing. Right at the back sits a 30-foot outbuilding, a proper blank canvas for whatever you fancy: workshop, gym, studio, or somewhere to escape for a bit of peace and plotting.

Upstairs, the principal bedroom mirrors the bay layout of the front room below, with an extra single window for good measure. A black cast-iron fireplace anchors the space, while built-in cupboards fill the alcoves neatly. Two further double bedrooms each come with their own period fireplaces and calm, neutral tones, bright, restful, and ready for life to happen.

The bathroom keeps things classic: marble-tiled walls, a freestanding bath, and a walk-in shower with on-trend black fittings, giving you both speed and indulgence depending on your mood.

Head up once more and the loft conversion reveals the master bedroom, complete with generous eaves storage and plenty of breathing space.

This is a home with real heart, practical where it matters, full of character where it counts, and ready to adapt to whatever you throw at it from the moment you arrive.

A WORD FROM THE EXPERT...

"Leytonstone is a unique, eclectic area, with great gastro pubs like Leytonstone Tavern and The Red Lion to bistro cafés like The Wild Goose Bakery and Gray, along with the open green space of Wanstead Flats, a serene getaway from the hustle and bustle of urban life. The area is full of history, with interesting, beautiful Grade II listed buildings like St John's Baptist Church (built in 1832) and Leytonstone House, the 18th-century home of Sir Edward Buxton, notable MP and conservationist. There's also St Andrew's Church, built in 1886-1893 as a memorial to local philanthropist William Cotton. Leytonstone Library is a great place to visit if you're feeling studious and Leytonstone Leisure centre is close by for the more actively minded. Wanstead Park, in the former grounds of Wanstead House, takes in walking trails, cycle paths and several ornamental lakes — a great place to relax, exercise and soak up some local history. With an array of buses and the Central line underground station close by, you can be in the City and surrounding areas within minutes."
