DESCRIPTION

An impressive detached residence with expansive accommodation and an abundance of charm and character throughout with its impressive high ceilings and detailed covings and original features. The property dates back to the late 19th century and was built using materials frequently used during this time, including stone walls with an asbestos slate hung exterior and a slate roof. The property has undergone significant improvements since the current owners took ownership in 2014.

ACCOMMODATION

The property opens directly into the most impressive and spacious reception hall with original wooden floors and stairs leading to the first floor. Multiple doors lead off the reception hall to both the main sitting room and a drawing room. Both rooms have wooden floors, large bay windows with shutters, stone fire places and high ceilings with original coving and ceiling roses. The property continues into the most impressive recently completed open plan kitchen, dining room extension which is flooded with natural light from the bi fold doors in the living section that leads into the side garden. The kitchen also offers a mixture of wall and base mounted units, hand wash basin, space for appliances, a large walk-in pantry and a dual fuel electric Aga. The former kitchen space has now been adapted and is instead used as its own utility space with units, hand wash basin, space for appliances and door leading to the ground floor WC. The downstairs is completed by a door under the stairs that lead into three cellar rooms providing useful storage. All windows are wooden and a mixture of single and double glazed.

The stairs lead to the first floor, where a spacious landing is filled with natural light from a stained glass window. The first floor offers five bedrooms, with the two principal front bedrooms featuring wood flooring, bay windows with shutters, and a wealth of original character features throughout. Bedrooms three and four are both generous doubles and continue the home's period charm, while bedroom five is a comfortable single room. The first floor is completed by a family bathroom comprising a WC, freestanding bath, hand wash basin, and separate shower. A walk-in storage room also provides a practical and useful additional space.

Stairs lead of the landing onto the second floor with a large spacious attic room that can be used as a hobby room or a master bedroom. The entire second floor could be repurposed as a separate living space with the store room offering scope to be converted into a en-suite or additional kitchen as the pipework is currently in place ready for conversion.

OUTSIDE

The property is approached via a long driveway, lined with feature trees on either side, leading to a generous parking area with space for multiple vehicles. The property also benefits from several outbuildings, including a large double garage and a further storage shed. Leading from the extension is an excellent entertaining area, perfect for family and friends, which opens onto the west-facing garden. The garden is predominantly laid to lawn and features a raised decked seating area, along with a chicken house and run. Positioned above the nearby Tinhay Lake, the gardens are bordered by mature shrubs, trees, and bushes, and also include a greenhouse. A separate orchard is located on the opposite side of the property, with the total grounds extending to approximately 0.77 acres.
