SITUATION

Haske Barton enjoys a peaceful rural setting, surrounded by just three neighbouring properties, approximately two miles from the historic market town of Crediton. With a population of around 21,500, Crediton offers a wide range of amenities to meet everyday needs, including a variety of independent shops and businesses, GP, dental and veterinary surgeries, Morrisons and Tesco supermarkets, a leisure centre, and a popular farmers' market. The cathedral and university city of Exeter lies just 9.5 miles away, providing an extensive selection of shopping, dining and recreational opportunities. Exeter also benefits from mainline railway stations with services to London, as well as an international airport located to the east of the city.

DESCRIPTION

Haske Barton is a charming Grade II listed Devon longhouse, formerly part of the historic Creedy Park estate, which was home to the Davie family from around 1600 until the late 20th century. The property is believed to date from the 16th century, with later improvements in the 17th century, possibly following its acquisition by the Davie family. Constructed of rendered cob beneath a traditional thatched roof, the house retains a wealth of original architectural features that reflect its rich heritage. These include elegant chamfered beams, picture rails, window seats, and impressive inglenook fireplaces.

ACCOMMODATION

At the heart of the home is a beautifully renovated kitchen/breakfast room, which seamlessly blends modern convenience with period charm. The traditional fireplace now houses an oil-fired AGA, complete with the original bread oven still in place, alongside a small induction hob. Doors lead through to a garden room with French doors opening onto a patio, while also providing access to a practical utility room.

Adjoining the kitchen is the drawing room, a bright and inviting space with a large inglenook fireplace and dual-aspect windows offering delightful views over the surrounding land. The formal dining room sits alongside, featuring another character fireplace, exposed beams, shutters, and a door leading to the formal entrance hall. This hall includes useful storage and provides access to the formal sitting room, which benefits from large windows overlooking the gardens, an inglenook fireplace, and original plasterwork. Double doors lead through to the main staircase.

On the first floor, the principal bedroom enjoys stunning views over the grounds and features a spacious ensuite with a free-standing bath. Bedroom five is located nearby and offers additional storage. A corridor leads to three further generous double bedrooms and a large family bathroom with both bath and shower, overlooking the garden. A secondary staircase provides convenient access back down to the kitchen. All principal reception rooms and bedrooms are south-facing, allowing for an abundance of natural light and far-reaching countryside views.

ANNEXE

The annexe, positioned to one side of the house, provides highly flexible accommodation. Currently used for business purposes as well as additional living space, it could easily suit a variety of needs, including multi-generational living or holiday letting.

With its own external entrance and separate staircase, the annexe comprises a study, a games room, and a mezzanine-level bedroom with an ensuite.

GARDENS AND GROUNDS

The property is set within approximately 3.66 acres of gardens and grounds, thoughtfully divided into garden, orchard, and field. To the west of the house lies a beautifully landscaped garden, with a lawn leading through to the orchard. The orchard is well stocked with apple, pear, and cherry trees, alongside a variety of berry bushes. Tucked away and sheltered by trees is a charming summer house, providing a peaceful and private retreat.
