Designed in a modern farmhouse style, the property combines generous open-plan living with four bedrooms and excellent outdoor space, including a substantial covered entertaining area. Further features include a Dutch barn into which there is agreed planning to extend (subject to consents), extensive parking, and energy-efficient heating via an air source heat pump. The property lies within the catchment area for the highly regarded, Ofsted Outstanding-rated King's School in Ottery St Mary, with a school bus stop located at the top of the lane, and benefits from excellent access to local services in neighbouring villages. It is also well placed for access to the A30/A303 and M5, making it a superb option for those seeking a rural lifestyle with strong transport connections.

Walk Through

The property is approached via a private electric gate, which opens onto a large, gravelled driveway. Straight ahead the bungalow is an attractive, high-roofed home with a modern farmhouse aesthetic, combining white rendered walls with timber cladding. To the left, a private lane runs alongside the garden and leads through to the field beyond, while to the right a Dutch barn provides useful additional space and future potential.

The front door opens into a central entrance corridor. This connects the open-plan living space to one side with the bedrooms and family bathroom to the other. Kardean wood-effect flooring and internal wooden doors create a cohesive and welcoming feel throughout, reinforcing the farmhouse style.

The house opens into an impressive open-plan living space, generous in scale and highly versatile. Arranged to incorporate kitchen, dining and sitting areas, it is flooded with natural light from multiple sets of triple windows and wide sliding doors that open directly into an outside dining area with the garden beyond.

The kitchen is stylishly fitted, with quartz work surfaces and bespoke spalted beech supports which include an integrated wine rack. It includes a Bosch induction hob, two Neff slide-away ovens, and twin dishwashers positioned either side of the sink. Stone-effect Kardean flooring differentiates the kitchen area from the rest of the room. The utility room, directly adjoining the kitchen, provides additional space with wood effect surfaces, fitted units, space for a washing machine, dryer and comes with an integrated fridge freezer, as well as a back door leading directly into the garden.

In the dining area, there is ample space for a large dining table, comfortably seating ten, positioned to enjoy dual aspect views to the garden and with direct access outdoor space through sliding doors. Meanwhile, the sitting area provides room for multiple sofas, with charming feature bookcases framing the windows.

Heading through the double doors from the dining area opens into an impressive covered area that extends the living accommodation into the outdoors. This well asset, with a secondary area of land to the rear of the field (separated by a bund) which includes an area of hard standing. A planning application for the construction of an equine sand school has been submitted for this area beyond the bund.

The Dutch barn at the front of the property adds further versatility, with planning permission granted for an extension of the property between and into the barn providing an additional living room and two further bedrooms.

The property benefits from extensive parking on the driveway. It has its own sewage treatment plant and uses an air source heat pump for heating.

The access beyond the electric gates is shared, and the property is offered with no onward chain.

Situation

Located in the charming East Devon countryside, the property enjoys a peaceful rural setting while remaining well connected to a wide range of nearby villages and towns. A number of well-served villages lie within easy reach, including Payhembury (approximately 1.5 miles), with its presented living and dining space has been carefully designed for year-round use, with tiled flooring, a oak frame and low brick walls topped with glass panels acting as windbreaks. To one side, steps lead up to the hot tub area, while to the other is a superb outdoor seating and dining space, complete with a fitted wine cooler, gas BBQ and an open fire set within a brick surround with oak lintel and built-in seating. With outdoor lighting and uninterrupted views across the garden and field beyond to Devon-hedged boundaries and the countryside beyond, it is a particularly special space for entertaining and relaxing.

The property's four-bedroom accommodation is arranged off the main corridor, with one bedroom positioned adjacent to the living space and three further rooms set along a separate corridor. These rooms have been finished with a high level of attention to detail throughout.

The principal bedroom overlooks the rear garden and benefits from an en suite shower room featuring stone effect tiles, a walk-in rainfall shower and cabinet-top.

The second bedroom also benefits from an en suite, along with a slatted wood feature wall and a useful storage cupboard.

The family bathroom is particularly well finished, with marble effect Tiled flooring and walls, a bath, separate shower and a cabinet-top sink.

There are two further bedrooms, along with a downstairs WC.

Outside, the garden is mainly laid to lawn with gravelled paths, creating defined areas while maintaining an open feel. The garden is enclosed and with direct access into the property's adjoining field. This field extends to approximately 2.6 acres, providing a significant additional well-regarded primary school, community shop and pub; Talaton (around 2.1 miles), offering a popular community shop and pub; and Clyst Hydon (approximately 2.3 miles), known for its community-run pub and outdoor swimming pool. Plymtree (around 2.6 miles) provides further amenities including a shop, school and pub, while Feniton (approximately 3.9 miles) offers both a local school and a railway station with services to Exeter and London Waterloo.

services. The nearby market towns of Honiton (approximately 8 miles) and Cullompton (around 6.2 miles) provide further options, each offering a range of shops, supermarkets, healthcare and additional local amenities.
