Set on the top floor of the modern Queensgate development, this one double bedroom apartment offers an easy, low-maintenance style of living that works particularly well for commuters or anyone wanting to be within walking distance of Redhill's amenities.

Step inside and a spacious entrance hallway gives the apartment a surprisingly open feel, before leading through to the main living space. The kitchen and reception room are arranged open-plan, leaving plenty of room to create separate areas for dining and relaxing. The contemporary kitchen sits neatly to one side and is fitted with an oven, hob, fridge/freezer and washer/dryer.

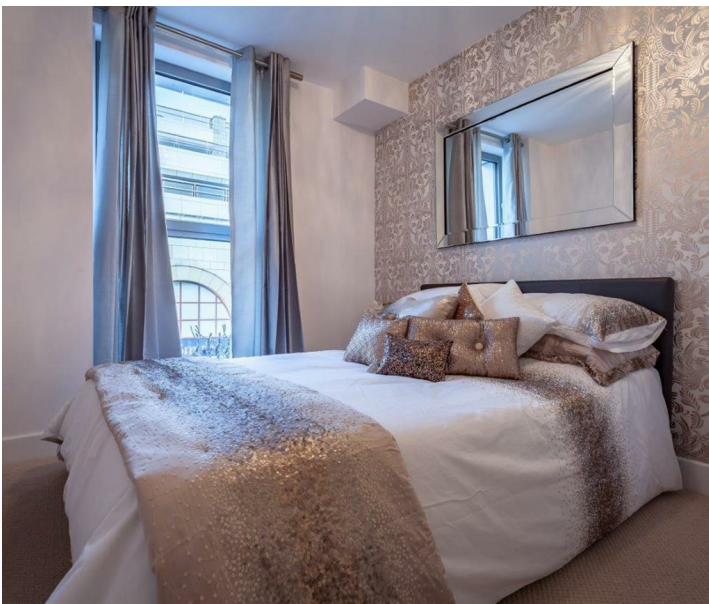

The bedroom is a comfortable double with fitted wardrobes already taken care of, while the bathroom is finished in a clean, modern style with a shower over the bath.

Queensgate itself has a smart entrance and well-kept communal areas, with stairs leading to the apartment.

Location is a major part of the appeal here. Redhill town centre is immediately accessible, putting everyday shopping, cafés, restaurants and other amenities close at hand. Redhill mainline station is also just a short walk away, making the apartment particularly convenient for commuters, with direct rail services into London.

The property is purpose-built for the rental market and benefits from professional landlord management, dedicated maintenance support and access to a tenant app for documents, property information and feedback.
