THE PROPERTY

Hooke House is a fine, detached, former rectory with lovely private gardens and grounds within the sought after village of Hooke and surrounded by beautiful countryside. It was built in 1865 by the Church of England as the rectory and has very attractive natural stone elevations under a slate roof. The property benefits from not being listed.

The property has been a well loved family home since 2001 and under the long ownership an extensive number of alterations and improvements have been undertaken, together with the building of a self-contained office.

The house contains a whole number of original features, typical of its type and Victorian period, including pine floors, deep skirting boards, high ceilings, stone mullion windows, sash windows, window shutters and window seats, lovely fireplaces including a bespoke Hamstone fireplace, panelled doors and ornate staircase.

It is offered with all modern amenities including oil-fired central heating, 4-oven Aga and a security alarm.

The house principally faces south to the rear, enjoying a lovely aspect over its own gardens and grounds and open countryside beyond.

The accommodation is well proportioned, extensive and very versatile, to suit a whole range of buyers. The self-contained office offers great potential to adapt into an annexe for a dependant relative or long/short term letting unit, or for Air B&B etc. Alternatively, ideal as is for working from home.

The accommodation comprises:

Main House

Ground floor - Entrance porch, reception hall with large understairs cupboard (and double-ended wood burner shared with family room), family room/TV room/library, large drawing room featuring a bespoke local Hamstone fireplace, conservatory, inner hall, bedroom 6/study/home office, cloakroom, large kitchen/breakfast room with larder, utility, back kitchen, boiler/drying room. First floor - Landing with airing cupboard and access to extensive boarded attic, 5 bedrooms, bathroom/shower room featuring rolltop bath, second bathroom.

The Office Wing

Built over the garages in circa 2005 and is self-contained with external stairs, comprising a very large office with bathroom and cloakroom facilities(easily adapted to create a shower room).

OUTSIDE

A great feature of the property is its lovely setting, being surrounded by its own land, affording great privacy and principally south-facing with the wonderful views.

The house is set well back from the lane and approached through double metal gates on stone piers onto a long driveway leading to a large turning and parking area with access to the two integral garages.

There are extensive well established and well stocked gardens featuring lawns, including the former croquet lawn, mature trees, sunken terrace with well, fruit and veg areas, treehouse and zipwire, former piggery and orchard.

AGENT'S NOTE

The roof has been treated with spray foam to improve energy efficiency.
