DESCRIPTION

Wergs Hall Gardens is a wonderful opportunity for developers and extended families alike to create an individual self contained "mini-estate" which would comprise five independent residences.

The principal residence, around which the estate is centred, is a well proportioned, landmark Victorian house which has been in the ownership of the currant family for almost half a century. The house benefits from well proportioned three bedroomed accommodation over two storeys and planning permission has recently been granted, to facilitate the extensions to create a superb residence with, in brief, three reception rooms and a kitchen to the ground floor and four bedrooms and two bath / shower rooms to the upper floor.

Planning permission has been granted for the creation of "Bothy Cottages" out of an adjoining range of single storey buildings to the principal residence. Each property will comprise an independent residence with a living kitchen, shower room and bedroom.

Planning permission was granted for the creation of a fine, single storey house. The proposed plans provide for a large living room, dining kitchen, two bedrooms, a shower room, a cloakroom and a utility area, but buyers could revisit this provision should they so wish (subject to planning permission). Note that the planning is currently being resubmitted.

OUTSIDE

The entire property stands in grounds of a little under one acre in total, all of which are broadly level.
