DESCRIPTION

Dundridge Stables is an exceptional Grade II listed property forming part of the historic Dundridge Estate. The earliest sections date from around 1840, with the principal coach house and stable complex constructed in the late nineteenth century during the ownership of Robert Harvey. Originally serving Dundridge House, the buildings retain an extraordinary wealth of historic character, including the impressive coach house with cobbled floor and original doors, together with beautifully preserved Victorian internal stabling with wrought iron partitions, mangers and saddle racks.

The property has been thoughtfully converted to create a substantial and highly individual home that blends historic architectural detail with modern comfort. The current owners have extensively improved and carefully maintained the property, enhancing its efficiency and functionality while preserving the character and integrity of the original buildings. Later additions include a superb garden room and an impressive indoor swimming pool complex enjoying views across the gardens and surrounding meadow. The result is a distinctive country home offering flexible living space, extensive ancillary buildings and beautiful grounds in a peaceful rural setting.

ACCOMMODATION

The property is approached through the impressive former coach house, an atmospheric entrance space retaining its original character with cobbled floor, historic coach doors and access to the stable complex. From here a doorway leads into the main house. An entrance hall provides a welcoming introduction to the property, with a wood burner and access to the principal rooms.

From the hall, the accommodation flows into the kitchen/dining room, which forms the heart of the home. The room is fitted with handmade wooden cabinetry and a central island, together with a Rangemaster cooker and wood burning stove, creating a warm and sociable space for everyday living and entertaining. A utility room lies adjoining and provides additional practical storage and workspace.

Continuing through the ground floor are two bedrooms, located within the oldest part of the building which originally served as the tack room and stableman's office. These rooms retain a strong sense of the building's historic origins while providing flexible accommodation for guests or family.

The accommodation then leads through to the snug, a comfortable and intimate sitting area, which in turn opens into the sitting room, a generous reception room enjoying views over the gardens. Above this part of the house is a gallery level, providing a versatile additional space ideal for a study, studio or occasional accommodation.

From the sitting room the property flows naturally into the garden room, a bright and inviting space with extensive glazing overlooking the gardens and grounds. Beyond the garden room lies the indoor swimming pool complex, a particularly impressive feature of the property comprising a spacious pool hall together with a changing room, WC and plant room.

Stairs then rise to the first floor, where the principal bedroom occupies the former hayloft and is a striking room with exposed beams and an en suite bathroom. Two further bedrooms are located on this level and are served by a family shower room.

OUTSIDE

The property is approached via a shared private driveway leading to the impressive coach house archway and cobbled courtyard, providing extensive parking and access to the stable buildings, garaging and stores.

The former piggery has been converted to provide a studio or home office, creating a useful workspace separate from the house.

The gardens surrounding the property are attractively landscaped with lawns, established flower beds and mature trees with a large curved terrace adjoining the garden room and swimming pool.

In total the grounds extend to approximately 3.6 acres, including orchard, vegetable garden, wildlife pond and a delightful meadow of around 2 acres, currently managed as a wildflower meadow and bordered by mature woodland.

SERVICES

Private borehole water supply (with access to mains water if required). Private drainage via a treatment plant installed in 2023. Mains electricity. Heating via oil fired boiler with thermal store, supplemented by solar PV panels and a wood burner. Ground source heat pump serving the swimming pool, garden room and changing area.
