EGGBUCKLAND

Prior to the Second World War Eggbuckland was a small village a few miles north of Plymouth. During the reconstruction of Plymouth many new suburbs were built and during the 1970s the areas in between and surrounding the old village were all developed. The development of the A38 just south of Eggbuckland in the 1980s lead to the area becoming very popular with commuters. The present church of St Edward, was constructed in 1470. The village was held by the Royalist Cavaliers during the Civil War against the Parliamentarian Roundheads and was badly damaged. Widey Court was the headquarters of Prince Maurice during his siege of Plymouth, and was visited by the King. During the 19th century the area was host to new Palmerston Forts built as part of a northern defence line around Plymouth. Known locally, for the provision of both primary and secondary schooling, such as; Eggbuckland Vale, Austin Farm, Widey Court and St Edwards Primary Schools, along with Eggbuckland Community College.
