Kingsley, Bagot Street, Abbots Bromley
There are homes that simply provide shelter, and then there are spaces that understand the rhythm of family life. This thoughtfully reimagined residence on Bagot Street belongs firmly to the latter category, where considered design meets the warmth of everyday living.

Set within the charming village of Abbots Bromley, this family home has undergone a transformation that speaks to those who appreciate quality without ostentation. The approach is immediately inviting: a generous driveway curves toward the entrance, where a composite front door flanked by glazed panels offers the first glimpse of what lies beyond. There is also an EV charger. Step inside, and you're met with a hallway that sets the tone for the entire property. Beneath your feet, cool porcelain tiles flow seamlessly, while a bespoke solid oak staircase rises gracefully to the upper floor, its craftsmanship evident in every detail. Tucked beneath the stairs, a dedicated study area demonstrates the thoughtful use of space that characterises this home.

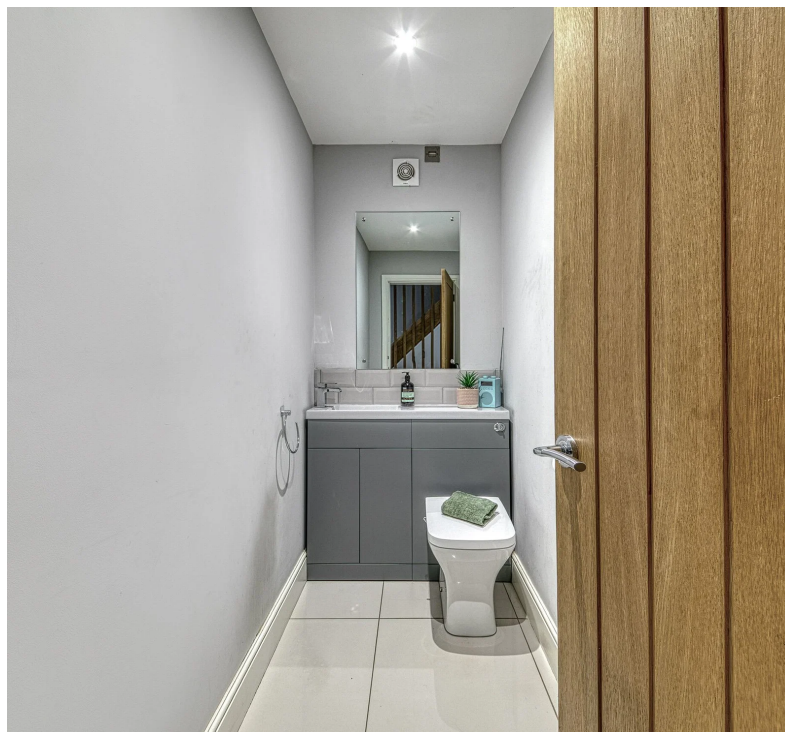

To your right, the sitting room awaits. Large picture windows frame the view and invite natural light to dance across the room throughout the day. Here is a space for quieter moments: morning coffee with the papers, evening conversation as dusk settles, or simply the pleasure of a good book. A contemporary electric fireplace provides both visual warmth and gentle heat, while carefully positioned wall lighting creates ambience when natural light fades. This is a room that understands

The hallway continues, revealing a series of wonderfully practical spaces that reflect intelligent design. What was once a traditional garage has been reimagined as three distinct areas, each serving its purpose beautifully. Storage space at the front accommodates the practical necessities of modern living, while a guest cloakroom provides welcome convenience for family and visitors alike. The utility room, tucked discretely away, handles the behind-the-scenes work of household management with quiet efficiency.

Yet it is the heart of this home that truly captivates. The open-plan dining kitchen extends across the rear of the property, creating a space where family life naturally congregates. Velux skylights puncture the ceiling, bringing the sky indoors and ensuring this room is perpetually bathed in natural light. When the weather permits, aluminium bi-folding doors accordion open entirely, dissolving the boundary between inside and out and transforming the room into a seamless extension of the garden.

The kitchen itself is a masterpiece of contemporary design, installed by Sigma 3 in a sophisticated two-tone palette that avoids the predictable. Masterclass cabinetry provides both beauty and abundant storage, while quartz worktops offer durability wrapped in elegance. Subtle under-counter and plinth lighting adds layers of illumination that shift from functional brightness during meal preparation to ambient glow for evening entertaining.
