We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

*** GUIDE PRICE £470,000 - £490,000 ***

Situated on a desirable tree lined road with Hampden Park at the end, this charming detached chalet style bungalow offers spacious and highly versatile accommodation arranged over two floors. Beautifully maintained and thoughtfully updated, the property features an impressive L-shaped sitting room to the front, an upgraded kitchen and a generous ground floor bedroom positioned to the rear with views over the garden. A further flexible reception room - ideal as a dining room, study or occasional fourth bedroom - benefits from a conservatory opening onto the rear garden, while a ground floor bathroom adds to the home's practicality. Upstairs, two well proportioned double bedrooms are complemented by a particularly spacious and stylish family bathroom. Externally, the property boasts a brick laid driveway to the front, a shared driveway to the side leading to a garage and a large, private rear garden perfect for outdoor living. Conveniently located within easy reach of Hampden Park train station, local shops, bus routes and amenities, this is a superb opportunity to acquire a flexible and well appointed home in a sought after setting.
