Having been originally constructed in 1904, this stunning home has then been extended to the rear and benefits from an attic conversion to provide accommodation measuring 94.3 sqm / 1015 sqft across three levels.

To the ground floor the property comprises a rear lobby which the current owner uses as the main entrance to the property. There is an open plan Living/Dining room, which was previously two separate reception spaces, and which has a Morsø multifuel stove. There is a study which could also be used as a bedroom, and to the rear of the property is a stunning kitchen/breakfast room with herringbone parquet wood flooring. French doors open onto the patio and a Velux window all contribute to large levels of natural light flooding the kitchen. The kitchen benefits from feature tiles splash back, storage at both base level and eye level, a large oak work surface, a ceramic sink with drainer and space for white goods. The french doors and rear door are all Velfac composite powder-coated aluminium and timber, for ease of maintenance.

To the first floor is a large landing area with an airing cupboard, off the landing is a large master bedroom with a sash window towards the front as well as a fitted shelved cupboard to the side of the chimney stack. Completing the first floor is a family shower room with a low-level WC, sink with vanity unit below, a heated towel rail and a large walk-in shower. To the second floor is the converted attic space which has been converted into a bedroom. The attic room is ideal for a teenager or as a guest room with a feature pitched wooden window overlooking the rear garden and two Velux windows drawing in further light. The feature window is 'Rationel' composite powder coated aluminium and timber. The sash windows in the property are made from hardwood timber, double glazed, 'heritage' windows made by a local craftsman.

Externally, the sizeable rear garden, which is approaching 100ft in length, is split into three parts. Off the kitchen breakfast room is a large patio area ideal for alfresco dining in the warmer months of the year and benefitting from ample space for an array of patio furniture. To the middle of the garden is a large lawn area with herbaceous borders and a mature silver birch tree and a green house. To the far end of the garden is a mature plot with raised vegetable beds, a small nature pond and a patio off the timber-built summer house.
