SUMMARY

Set on a generous plot in an elevated position in Farm Hill, and offered with no onward chain, this three-bedroom link-detached home enjoys sweeping views across Exeter, capturing the cathedral and city skyline in the distance. The wrap-around garden, arranged over two levels, provides a sense of space and privacy rarely found in this location.

Positioned within a well-established residential neighbourhood, the property benefits from excellent connectivity — regular bus services, easy access to local amenities, convenient access to nearby cycle paths and riverside walks, and St David's mainline railway station within walking distance.

Inside, the ground floor features a welcoming living room opening directly onto the garden, perfectly placed to enjoy the outlook, alongside a practical kitchen. Upstairs, three bedrooms and a family bathroom complete the accommodation.

The outdoor space is designed for low-maintenance enjoyment, laid predominantly to decking and stone chippings, with a sunny southerly orientation. The garden is a standout feature of the property and makes the most of the views on offer. A pedestrian gate provides convenient access, while a shed on the lower level offers useful storage. A garage located nearby provides additional storage or parking options. An additional parking space is available, the access and rights to this is shared with a neighbour.

Available with no onward chain, this home presents an appealing opportunity for buyers seeking views, outdoor space and a well-connected Exeter setting. Internal viewing is highly recommended.
