LOCATION

The Old Town Hall is in the picturesque village of Redmire, in Wensleydale, right on the edge of the Yorkshire Dales National Park. The village has a public house, village hall and church and is perfectly placed for enjoying many miles of walking, cycling and driving routes of the Yorkshire Dales.

Approximately five miles to the east lies the market town of Leyburn, offering a wide range of local and artisan shops, supermarkets, a weekly outdoor market, filling station, a doctors' surgery, dentists, primary and secondary schools. The larger town of Richmond lies approximately 11 miles to the north and includes further shops, amenities and large supermarkets.

There is a range of independent schools within daily travelling distance. The A1(M) is approximately 13 miles away, providing access towards York, Harrogate and Leeds to the south and Middlesbrough, Newcastle and Sunderland to the north.

The nearest train station is Northallerton (about 23 miles) with a regular service on the east coast main line to York, Newcastle, London or Edinburgh.

International airports are at Leeds/Bradford (50 miles), Teesside (32 miles) and Newcastle (65 miles).

DESCRIPTION

Dating back to 1862, The Old Town Hall was originally built as a Drill Hall for training the Wensleydale Volunteers, as well as hosting village social events. It closed in 1960 and was converted into a single-storey residence. In 2005, the building was remodelled into a Bed & Breakfast and has since undergone extensive renovation to offer high-quality, luxury accommodation.
