Saxton Mee

Wainstones North Church Street

Asking Price

£415,000

This Grade II listed three-storey end terrace cottage enjoys a prominent position opposite the church in the historic market town of Bakewell.

Carefully renovated by the present owners to retain its period charm while introducing modern comforts, the property is currently run as a successful holiday let, with contents available by separate negotiation, yet it is equally well suited as a main home. Its location is superb, being just a short walk from the town centre, with its excellent range of shops, cafés, restaurants, as well as the riverside walks for which Bakewell is renowned.

The interior is full of character with accommodation arranged across three floors. A welcoming sitting room sets the tone with its traditional charm and a spacious fitted dining kitchen that combines period detail with modern practicality. A cellar provides additional useful storage.

On the first floor there is a generous double bedroom, a further bedroom and a shower room.

The second floor opens to a striking attic bedroom running from front to back, offering a light and versatile space with lovely views over the town.

To the rear, a small courtyard provides a private outdoor space, perfect for morning coffee or evening relaxation. The setting opposite the church enhances the sense of history and character. Permit parking.

Bakewell, often described as the jewel of the Peak District, is a thriving town offering an active community and year-round appeal. Surrounded by glorious countryside, including the Monsal Trail and Chatsworth Estate, it is a popular destination for visitors yet remains a highly desirable place to live, with excellent schools, independent shops and strong transport links.
