🏠 EPC Rating E

Ashwell is a spacious detached bungalow (1868 sq ft) located in a delightful village setting on a bold plot approaching 0.4 acre, amid established and well tended gardens. The property is offered for sale for the first time, since being built in 1960 and offers potential to complete a scheme of updating and potentially reconfigure the layout to the buyers own specification.

The versatile and well-proportioned interior flows around a central hallway which is accessed via an entrance porch and reception hallway. The principal living accommodation comprises a spacious double aspect sitting room, a dining room and south facing conservatory. There is a kitchen, family bathroom and two double bedrooms on the ground floor. Stairs from the dining room rise up the first floor with two further double bedrooms, one benefitting from an en suite bathroom.

A door from the kitchen opens into a covered side way with a useful utility room and storeroom.

The bungalow stands amid large established gardens which are a particular feature, being predominantly laid to lawn and interspersed by established beds, stocked with an abundance of shrubs and perennials with a variety of mature trees providing a high degree of privacy.

To the front a long driveway provides ample parking and turning space. There is a large detached garage and workshop within the grounds.

SITUATION

Crudwell is a thriving village with a strong community spirit, situated just three miles north from the historic town of Malmesbury and seven miles from the Cotswold market town of Cirencester. Local amenities include two public houses, one being the highly regarded Potting Shed, The Rectory, a country house hotel, a well regarded primary school and catchment for the award winning Malmesbury Secondary School. There is a parish church and a Post Office within the Wheatsheaf pub. Access to junction seventeen of the M4 provides road and travel links to London, Bath and Bristol. Regular bus services are available to and from Malmesbury. An intercity railway link to London Paddington is available from Kemble, only four miles away, arriving in just over an hour.
