Warwick House, 65 Derby Road, Melbourne, Derby, DE73 8FE

Warwick House is a distinctive and characterful period home occupying a prominent position on Derby Road in the heart of historic Melbourne. Believed to date from the early nineteenth century, the property forms part of Melbourne's long-standing commercial and residential heritage and offers an appealing blend of period charm and spacious modern living. In recent years, a one-bedroom self-contained annexe has been added to the rear of the property.

Today, Warwick House it's self provides generous and flexible accommodation arranged over two floors, with two spacious reception rooms, a kitchen/breakfast room, three well-proportioned bedrooms, and a layout well suited to both family living and entertaining. Period features typical of properties of this era combine with later improvements to create a home that retains its historic character while offering practical modern comfort. Additionally, the property benefits from numerous pantries, storage areas, and a utility space. Original features have been carefully preserved over the years, allowing the home to retain much of the character from when it was originally built.

The self-contained annexe comprises a kitchen/diner and lounge, with stairs leading to the first-floor landing where there is a double bedroom and a shower room. The annexe benefits from its own independent heating system.

Outside

Externally, the property is enclosed to the front by wrought iron fencing and gates, which, when installed, won an award from the Melbourne Civic Society. These provide access to the front entrance of the property. Double gates to the side lead into the rear, where there is parking for up to five vehicles, access to two garages, and an outside store.

There is also access to a "secret garden", a unique and charming space that truly needs to be seen to be fully appreciated. Local builders and developers may also find the property of particular interest, as there may be potential development opportunities, subject to the necessary planning permissions being obtained.

Location

Melbourne is ideally placed for commuting, with Derby, Nottingham and Leicester all within easy reach, while the nearby A50, M1 and East Midlands Airport provide excellent regional and national connections.

Warwick House therefore represents a rare opportunity to acquire a substantial period property with genuine local history, set in one of South Derbyshire's most desirable market towns.

The property enjoys a central yet highly convenient location, within easy walking distance of Melbourne's excellent range of independent shops, cafés, pubs and amenities. The town itself is renowned for its attractive Georgian architecture, strong sense of community and proximity to surrounding countryside.
