Upper Redbrook NP25 4LU

£900,000

A REMARKABLE SIX-BEDROOM PERIOD RESIDENCE steeped in OVER 500 YEARS OF HISTORY, offering ELEGANT RECEPTION ROOMS ADDED IN THE 1730s, FIVE BATHROOMS, EXTENSIVE CELLAR SPACE. All in all, an EXCEPTIONAL AND SUBSTANTIAL FAMILY HOME, all set within the heart of the WYE VALLEY village of Redbrook.

Inglewood House is a truly exceptional and character-rich home, offering not just accommodation, but a lifestyle deeply rooted in history. Originally dating back to the 15th century, the property was later extended in the 1730s when a local squire sought to create a grander frontage, adding the impressive formal reception rooms that now define the home. With the original structure built into the rock face, the only direction for expansion was forwards a decision that gives the house its distinctive and elegant presence today.

Set within the picturesque village of Redbrook, on the banks of the River Wye, Inglewood House has been lovingly maintained and thoughtfully adapted to suit modern living while preserving its extraordinary heritage. The property has previously been operated as a successful bed and breakfast, yet it is first and foremost a substantial and deeply characterful private residence, ideally suited to family living, multi-generational arrangements or those simply seeking generous space in a truly special setting.

ACCOMMODATION OVERVIEW

The property offers six bedrooms and five bathrooms, arranged over three principal floors, alongside generous reception space and extensive cellar rooms. Throughout the house are original features including exposed beams, panelled walls, stone fireplaces, sash windows, and a charming curved staircase that immediately signals the home's period pedigree. Two principal reception rooms: a formal dining room, a sitting room, alongside a further snug and a conservatory, provide a variety of spaces for entertaining, family life or guest use. The upper floors offer excellent flexibility, with scope to reconfigure part of the top floor into a self-contained accommodation (subject to necessary consents). The property offers exceptional flexibility and can be easily configured to suit a variety of residential arrangements. The current layout naturally lends itself to creating defined family zones, private guest suites for visiting friends and relatives, or even independent space for older children or dependent relatives. The adaptable design ensures the home can readily evolve alongside changing family needs.

ENTRANCE HALLWAY

The entrance hallway sets a suitably grand tone, with tiled flooring, dado rails, decorative coving and an elegant archway framing the original curved staircase. Solid timber doors lead to the main reception rooms.

During the property's time as a successful bed and breakfast, the entrance hall has served as an excellent guest reception and office area. Previously, it has also been used as a formal dining space, while equally functioning as a striking and welcoming central hallway befitting the stature of the home.

LOUNGE

A stunning formal space, centred around a decorative fireplace with marble mantel and wood-burning stove. Large French windows with wooden shutters flood the room with light. The room opens through to the conservatory, creating a seamless flow between indoor and outdoor living.

CONSERVATORY

12'06 x 8'07 (3.81m x 2.62m)

A light and airy room, with doors out to the garden.

DINING ROOM

16'10 x 11'09 (5.13m x 3.58m)

An elegant room with an open fireplace set within decorative tiling and a marble surround. The dining room is large enough for lavish dinner parties or for feeding guests breakfast before they set off along the Offa's Dyke. Notably, the former butler's pantry still remains, marking where the original staircase once rose from the cellar where the kitchen would have been in the 1700's.

GROUND FLOOR BEDROOM / OFFICE

Currently used as a principal ground-floor bedroom, it offers excellent flexibility - ideal for those seeking single-level living, guest accommodation, or a peaceful home office or separate snug away from the main bedroom spaces upstairs. The room also benefits from a working fireplace.

KITCHEN

The heart of the home, this warm and inviting kitchen is fitted with quality units and an AGA, complemented by flagstone flooring and exposed beams that reinforce the property's period charm. There is ample space for a family dining table, making it a natural hub for everyday living and entertaining. A stable door provides access to the outside, while a secondary staircase rises from the kitchen to Bedroom Three, offering an additional and highly practical route to the first floor and enhancing the home's flexible layout. There is also a staircase which leads down to the Cellars.

CELLAR ROOMS

A particularly exciting feature of Inglewood House is the large cellar, comprising two substantial rooms measuring (13'10 x 14'07) and (16'10 x 11'08). These spaces offer enormous potential for conversion into a home cinema, gym, studio, workshop or wine cellar, subject to requirements - a rare and valuable asset in a period home of this nature.
