Welcome to Gallants Lane, East Harling (NR16) - a renovated period home that balances character and comfort, offering the charm you want with the practical, modern performance you need. Thoughtfully brought up to date with enhanced energy efficiency, it's a substantial family home designed for real life: busy weekdays, relaxed weekends, and everything in between.

Unique homes start with their layout - and this one delivers. The ground floor offers generous, versatile living space with an easy, practical flow that suits family routines just as well as entertaining. Upstairs, the first floor adds a quirkier layer of period character for a genuinely individual home, while exceptional storage throughout keeps everything calm, organised and beautifully liveable.

At the heart of the home, the kitchen-breakfast room is a superb everyday hub, with bespoke cabinetry, integrated appliances and a design that supports real life - from cooking and lunchboxes to effortless hosting. Extensive worktops, excellent storage and a multi-use breakfast bar make it as practical as it is sociable, and it naturally becomes the family command centre for homework, catch-ups and the occasional quiet 'sanity break'.

For more formal occasions, the dining room leans into the home's character with exposed beams and a slightly moodier, more intimate feel - perfect for long dinners, Sunday lunches and celebrations. The living room is the all-rounder you'll gravitate to morning, noon and night, boasting a vaulted ceiling, exposed beams and skylights that pour in natural light. Anchored by a woodburner, it's equally suited to lively family evenings or quieter downtime, while the window seat adds a lovely lifestyle moment for coffee, reading or simply daydreaming.

Currently arranged as a five-bedroom, two-bathroom layout, the generous footprint invites you to tailor the space to your way of life - whether that's reworking the bedroom balance, creating a more defined principal suite, or shaping a more independent setup for family or guests. The additional versatile rooms, including the playroom and home gym, add even more flexibility; with plumbing already in place, they could lend themselves brilliantly to an annexe-style arrangement or future principal suite. The independent office with adjoining store is ideal for home working, running a business, seeing clients by appointment, or keeping work life neatly separate.

Outside, you'll find something refreshingly different - perfect for those who appreciate a private, lifestyle-led setup rather than a vast rear lawn. The grounds sit predominantly to the front and feel wonderfully enclosed, with mature trees and greenery creating a peaceful, non-overlooked outlook. There's an enclosed lawn for a touch of green and easy play, alongside a large tiered patio made for alfresco dining, BBQs and relaxed evenings. Parking is a real strength too, with a tandem approach accommodating up to five vehicles, a large gravelled area for additional parking, plus a garage and carport.

East Harling is the kind of village where life feels both convenient and connected. With essentials close to hand - including a butcher, village store, coffee spots and pubs - it offers that rare 'walkable village life' feel, while still keeping you well placed for wider travel. It's also a village often chosen by home movers for its community spirit, friendly atmosphere and active local groups that help keep it vibrant and welcoming.

If you're seeking a renovated, unique and energy-efficient home with a ready-made home office and a private, south-facing outdoor space, this one is worth your time. Contact us today to book your appointment.
