- EPC Rating D

The modest exterior of this distinctive three-storey home gives little indication of the generous and highly adaptable accommodation within. Extending to approximately 1,122 sq ft, together with a 144 sq ft integral garage, the property offers considerably more space than might initially be expected and genuinely needs to be viewed to be fully appreciated.

The house is offered at a particularly competitive price, reflecting the opportunity for a purchaser to update and personalise the interior. Thoughtfully directed expenditure could transform the accommodation into a stylish contemporary home while, importantly, offering the potential to enhance its future value.

The ground floor includes an entrance hall, cloakroom and a generous rear double bedroom, equally suitable as a guest room, home office or additional family room. On the first floor, an impressive, naturally light living room is complemented by an open-plan kitchen and dining area overlooking the garden, with the fitted kitchen offering scope for modernisation. Two further well-proportioned double bedrooms and a shower room occupy the second floor, completing the particularly spacious and versatile accommodation.

Outside, the driveway provides off-street parking and access to the integral garage. The enclosed rear garden is established and relatively private, with mature planting, a paved sitting area and scope for further landscaping.
