Location

Occupying an enviable position within this distinctive development, Aphrodite stands on land that once formed part of RAF Fersfield, a historic Second World War airbase famously visited by Joseph Kennedy. Surrounded by beautiful open countryside, the setting offers an idyllic rural lifestyle with an abundance of scenic walks right from the doorstep, while remaining conveniently located just four miles from the thriving market town of Diss. Diss provides an excellent range of independent shops, cafés, restaurants and everyday amenities, together with well-regarded schools, leisure facilities and excellent transport links. The mainline railway station offers regular services to Norwich, Ipswich and London Liverpool Street, making the location ideal for both commuters and those seeking a peaceful countryside retreat.

The Property

Occupying a central position within its mature plot, Aphrodite is a striking and architecturally distinctive home, characterised by impressive vaulted ceilings and expansive glazing to the front elevation, creating a wonderfully light and airy interior. Extending to over 1,000 sq ft of well-planned accommodation, the heart of the home is the generous open-plan kitchen, dining and living area – an inviting space perfectly suited to modern family life, entertaining and everyday living. The bedrooms are accessed from the central hallway, each benefitting from the property's impressive ceiling heights, enhancing the feeling of space throughout. The accommodation is complemented by a well-appointed shower room, together with an En-suite bathroom room serving the main bedroom.

Outside

There is ample driveway parking to the front. Mature gardens extend around the side and rear of the property, providing a high degree of privacy and delightful views across the surrounding countryside.

A traditional post-and-rail fence with a five-bar gate encloses the driveway, while a useful outbuilding block, offers excellent storage for garden equipment or presents exciting potential for alternative uses, subject to the necessary planning permissions and consents.
