FOR SALE BY PRIVATE TREATY

A substantial detached country residence with extensive gardens, useful outbuildings, stabling and adjoining pasture paddocks, extending in all to approximately 12.11 acres.

An Appealing Rural Holding

G Herbert Banks and Shipways are delighted to be favoured with instructions to offer for sale The Highlands, Ribbesford, an individual detached country property occupying an attractive ring-fenced setting in the Worcestershire countryside.

The property offers an increasingly rare opportunity to acquire a substantial family home together with gardens, adjoining paddocks and a useful range of ancillary buildings, creating a most attractive package for purchasers seeking space, privacy and versatility in a sought-after rural location. The property is particularly suitable for equine or amenity purchase, and that is clearly one of its principal strengths.

Spacious Family Accommodation

The house provides generous and flexible accommodation arranged over two principal floors. The ground floor includes a reception hall, lounge, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen, utility room, office, rear hall and cloakroom facilities, offering an excellent balance of formal and informal living space.

To the first floor there are four double bedrooms, all served by en-suite bath or shower room accommodation, together with a separate W.C. In addition, there is a useful externally accessed store with games room above, which adds further flexibility for family occupation, recreation or home working.

Gardens, Grounds and Outbuildings

Outside, The Highlands benefits from a sweeping driveway, generous parking, electric gates, established gardens and formal patio areas overlooking the surrounding land.

The ancillary improvements include an oak-built car port, garage accommodation and other useful outbuildings which complement the house particularly well. Altogether, the property has the feel of a well-balanced country home, with the house and grounds sitting comfortably within their setting and enjoying attractive views over the adjoining land. It should also be noted that the Oak used in the construction was sourced from neighbouring woodland, further enhancing the character and provenance of the property.

Land and Amenity

A particular feature of The Highlands is the excellent relationship between the house, its outbuildings and the surrounding land, which together create a highly attractive and well-balanced country property. Extending in all to approximately 12.11 acres, the property offers a rare combination of substantial family accommodation, useful ancillary buildings and adjoining paddocks, making it especially appealing to purchasers seeking space, privacy and a genuine rural lifestyle.

The land lies neatly to the south of the house and stable yard, giving the property a pleasing ring-fenced feel and allowing the external areas to be enjoyed and managed as part of the whole. The paddocks are well suited to grazing and general amenity use, while the overall layout of the holding offers both practicality and visual appeal.

The equestrian facilities are an important part of the property's appeal. The stable yard provides nine stables, together with a barn for hay storage (totalling 362m² (Gross External Area), further extensive storage and a container unit for secure tack storage. In addition, the property includes a manege, further enhancing its suitability for purchasers with equestrian interests. The combination of house, land and facilities is likely to be of particular interest to those seeking a manageable equestrian property in an accessible yet rural setting.

Beyond its practical attributes, The Highlands also offers strong lifestyle appeal. The grounds and land provide an attractive setting for the house, while the acreage, outbuildings and paddocks give the property versatility for a range of country living, recreational and amenity purposes. Altogether, the property represents a rare opportunity to acquire a substantial rural home with genuine flexibility and broad appeal.

A Rare Opportunity

The Highlands is far more than simply a detached house with land. It is a versatile country property combining substantial accommodation, useful ancillary buildings, established grounds and adjoining paddocks in a highly appealing setting.

Offered for sale by private treaty, and with the benefit of no upward chain, it presents an excellent opportunity to acquire a rural home with genuine flexibility and broad lifestyle appeal.

Ground Floor

The ground floor at The Highlands offers spacious and versatile family accommodation, centred around a welcoming reception hall which provides an excellent sense of arrival and connects the principal living areas. The lounge is a generously proportioned reception room with feature fireplace and doors opening to the rear garden, whilst the dining room provides an ideal formal entertaining space. A separate breakfast room adjoins the kitchen and creates a more informal day-to-day living area, giving the house a balanced and practical layout for both family life and entertaining.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of wall and base units with granite work surfaces, integrated appliances and a two-door Aga, and leads through to the utility room beyond. The utility room in turn gives access to the office, an ideal space for home working and one which could also provide flexibility for a ground floor bedroom if required. A rear hall and cloakroom facilities complete the ground floor accommodation.

Overall, the layout is well suited to modern occupation, offering a comfortable combination of reception space, practical service areas and flexibility of use.

Ground Floor Summary

Outbuildings, Stables and Grounds

A particularly important feature of The Highlands is the extent and usefulness of its outbuildings and equestrian facilities. The stable yard comprises nine stables, together with a barn for the storage of hay and an office, creating a very practical arrangement for those with equestrian interests. In addition, there is extensive storage and a container unit providing secure tack storage, all of which materially enhance the property's appeal for purchasers seeking more than simply a house with land.

The paddocks are well maintained, and the overall arrangement of house, stable yard, ancillary buildings and adjoining land creates a highly attractive and usable rural holding. The property also benefits from a substantial Oak-built car port, garage accommodation and additional storage, giving the external improvements both practical and lifestyle value.

The outbuildings and stables total 362m² (Gross External Area).

Stables, Outbuildings and Land Summary

- The property includes a well-equipped stable yard with nine stables
- There is a barn for hay storage, together with an office, extensive storage and a container unit for secure tack storage
