A beautifully presented three-bedroom semi-detached home, occupying a superb corner plot in a quiet and desirable edge of village position.

Situated on the ever-popular Wroughton Mead in Congresbury, this impressive property offers versatile accommodation, with the added benefit of a highly useful ground floor study and shower room. This space is particularly adaptable and, given the self-contained feel, could easily be utilised as a fourth bedroom, home office, guest suite or additional living area -something neighbouring properties have also made use of.

From the moment you step inside, the quality of presentation is immediately apparent. The entrance hall leads through to the well-finished ground floor shower room, featuring a modern walk-in shower, WC and contemporary fittings. The adjoining study is a bright and versatile room, ideal for those needing a dedicated workspace or flexible additional accommodation.

The kitchen is both stylish and practical, enjoying a sleek modern finish with an excellent amount of worktop space, built-in hob and extractor, along with useful storage including a pantry/storage space. A side access door provides a convenient connection to the garden and outside space.

The sitting/dining room is a particularly impressive feature of the home, offering a wonderful sense of space and light. Beautiful engineered oak flooring runs throughout, complemented by a cosy log burner creating a welcoming focal point. French doors open directly onto the rear garden, allowing the outside space to become a natural extension of the living accommodation, particularly during the warmer months.

Upstairs, there are three well-proportioned bedrooms, all served by a modern family bathroom. The accommodation provides excellent flexibility for families, couples or those looking for additional space for guests and working from home.

Outside, the garden is a real highlight. Occupying a generous corner plot, the garden is notably private and thoughtfully landscaped, with mature planting providing attractive borders and a lovely established feel. There are excellent areas for outdoor seating and entertaining, along with a generous-sized shed for storage. Side access leads conveniently around to the front of the property, where off-street parking is available.

What we love about the property... The property enjoys a wonderfully peaceful position, while still being within easy reach of Congresbury's village amenities, making it an ideal home for those looking for a quiet setting without compromising on convenience.
