This was the first house I ever bought and I still remember the moment I walked into this house and saw the large open floor space and all the light. I still feel that every time I come into the front door. I was the first and only viewer and made an offer straight away. I love the sense of open space in the house and it has been give a lot of care. I love how the light comes in on both sides downstairs, the garden is a great sun trap and the front bedroom is also full of light.
