Baston Manor Road, Bromley, BR2 7AH

This top-floor apartment forms part of Baston Manor, a Georgian manor house set in quiet, secluded grounds within a conservation area between Keston Village and Hayes Common. The grounds are gated, and the apartment has its own 157-foot landscaped garden. Later additions to the manor are attributed to Decimus Burton, architect of Wellington Arch and the Athenaeum.

Tall sash windows, high ceilings and original stripped floorboards give the reception room and adjoining deVOL kitchen and breakfast room a bright, airy feel. Period cabinetry flanks the decorative fireplace and the kitchen combines fitted in-frame cupboards with open shelving. Glazed 18th-century doors fold back to bring the two rooms together for entertaining.

Both double bedrooms are generously sized, with far-reaching views over the surrounding countryside. One has fitted wardrobes. The bathroom is finished with marble accents.

The private garden has a York stone patio and a pond. Residents also have access to parking and a communal log store. Hayes (Kent) and Bromley South stations are approximately 0.8 miles and 2.4 miles away respectively, as the crow flies.
