LAMBERTS FARMHOUSE

A deceptively spacious 18th century farmhouse in sought after village location which is priced to reflect modernisation required and offers a world of possibility.

Comprising four reception rooms, four bedrooms, three bathrooms, a separate one bedroom annexe, further annexe potential within the main house, double garage, storage barn, quarter acre gardens and parking for six cars.

An internal viewing is essential to appreciate the potential offered.

Ground Floor

Upon entering, the hall has stairs rising to the first floor with a storage cupboard below and a window to the front.

The rear lobby provides access to the shower room, WC, and two rooms which offer internal annexe potential.

The kitchen has tiled floor, integrated oven and hob, window to the side and access to the pantry.

The dining room is of an excellent size and has an open fire, space for a table to seat twelve guests and windows to three elevations.

Another good sized reception is the sitting room which has an open fire and windows to the front and rear.

The other two ground floor rooms could be used for an elderly relative to be on site with the sitting room having windows to two elevations and an adjacent room which could be used as a ground floor bedroom.

Further potential to create a two storey annexe is offered by way of a separate staircase that leads to a bedroom above.

Seller Insight

“ Set in the heart of a small and wonderfully quiet village, this distinguished former farmhouse—owned by the same family for over twenty-six years—offers a rare blend of heritage, space, and serenity, all within easy reach of woodland walks and superb transport links to London and Birmingham. From the moment you enter through the gated driveway, framed by a tall yew hedge that shields the property from the road, the sense of privacy is immediate. It is a home that has evolved gracefully with its owners' lives, shaped by family gatherings, celebrations, and the joyful arrival of grandchildren who have grown up exploring its generous gardens and expansive interiors. The house itself is full of character: substantial stone walls, large and elegantly proportioned rooms, and an inviting sense of flow aided by front and rear staircases. Sunlight pours through rooms featuring triple windows, creating a bright and uplifting atmosphere throughout the day.

Several standout features elevate the property beyond the ordinary, including a beautifully converted forge that now forms a spacious bedroom and sitting area with its own shower room and an ensuite bedroom above—perfect for multigenerational living or long-term guests. A separate stone-built stable block has also been transformed into a self-contained one-bedroom cottage, ideal for visiting family, staff accommodation, or potential rental income. Thoughtful upgrades such as rewiring, double glazing, and solar panels ensure modern comfort without compromising the property's timeless charm. Inside, favourite spaces include the welcoming sitting room and the farmhouse kitchen complete with a walk-in larder—spaces where daily routines unfold with ease and where family and friends naturally gather.

Outdoors, the lifestyle on offer is equally appealing. The private garden unfurls across three distinct areas: a large lawn perfect for children, a raised section with a small pond and paved seating area shaded by an old apple tree, and a productive zone with raised vegetable beds, a strawberry patch, rose gardens, fruit trees including damson, apricot, and peach, and a large greenhouse. In spring, the grounds burst into colour with bluebells, aubretia, tulips, and daffodils, signalling the start of peaceful afternoons spent reading, gardening, or entertaining. The elevated position offers charming views and tranquil spots for enjoying sunrise and sunset.

The village itself is a vibrant and welcoming community, home to a sports and social club, WI, active church, allotment society, annual fêtes, and year-round events. Excellent schools, a recently completed bypass that has reduced road noise, regular bus connections, and easy access to the M1, M40, and major train lines add to the enviable practicality of the location. The owners say they will most miss the sense of community, the immediate countryside access, and the remarkable space—indoors and out—that has allowed them to welcome family, friends, and “waifs and strays” into a warm, generous home. Their advice to future owners is simple: embrace the potential of this exceptional property and make it your own.

First Floor

The feature bedroom has a vaulted ceiling, wooden floors, built in wardrobes and a lovely Juliet balcony in addition to an en-suite shower room.

There are three further first floor bedrooms, one being exceptionally large and having windows to three elevations, with the other two both being double bedrooms.

Completing the first floor accommodation is the family bathroom.

Annexe

Lamberts Farmhouse also benefits from a separate barn with solar panels which feed the main house and offers a kitchen, sitting room with lovely stone walls with stairs leading to a bedroom and bathroom above making this also ideal for a relative to live on site in addition to potential to let out as well.

Outside

The gardens are of an excellent size, extending to around a quarter of an acre.

There is a low maintenance area with vegetable beds, a main lawn with mature trees, a double garage, large storage barn and parking for around six cars secluded by gates.
