IF YOU LIVED HERE...

Positioned on the fifth floor, the apartment opens into a central hallway, gently guiding you through the home and linking each room with ease. From here, the reception room draws you in with a comfortable sense of width and large windows. It works just as well for relaxed evenings as it does for hosting friends, with a layout that naturally leads you through to the rear terrace.

Beyond the reception room, the rear terrace stretches across the apartment and becomes a natural extension of the living area. There's plenty of room for outdoor furniture, with wide sky views and a pleasing sense of privacy that makes it an inviting setting for entertaining or unwinding on warmer days. Back inside, the kitchen and dining area sits neatly off the hallway and works as an inviting, clearly defined room. Clean-lined cabinetry is paired with darker contrasting surfaces while a window draws in daylight and keeps the atmosphere uplifting.

The three bedrooms continue the same consistent tone, each enjoying large windows and far-reaching urban views. Two of the rooms easily accommodate double beds with room to move, while the third offers welcome flexibility. The bathroom is finished in warm-toned tiling and includes a bath with overhead shower, creating a composed, comfortable setting, while an additional WC adds everyday convenience. To the front of the apartment, the terrace runs along the building's clean façade, offering an appealing outdoor setting that feels open, airy and quietly removed from the bustle below.

The surrounding neighbourhood has a relaxed, lived-in feel, mixing independent favourites with generous green escapes. Ruttle & Rowe is best known as a quality coffee stop, popular for takeaway cups and a quick pause in the day, while The Dog & Duck is a well-loved local pub, valued for its friendly atmosphere and food offering. Wood Street Indoor Market brings real character to the area, drawing people in for vintage pieces, antiques, records and collectables. Lloyd Park offers green space with tennis courts, cafés, a popular playground, the William Morris Gallery and a weekend market, while woodland walks are just as close in the opposite direction around The Doughnut within Epping Forest. Families are also well served, with highly regarded schools nearby, including the outstanding Woodside Primary Academy.

WHAT ELSE?

Getting around is straightforward, with Wood Street Station a 15-minute walk away and direct services into Liverpool Street Station. Bus routes nearby connect easily with Walthamstow Central, Stratford and neighbouring parts of east London, making day-to-day travel simple and well connected.
