Bury and Hilton are delighted to offer this deceptively spacious and truly unique property to the market. Offered for sale with no onward chain for the first time in over 60 years.

Town centrally located, this property is situated within walking distance to town and all amenities including shops, transport links and food and beverage establishments.

This stone built end of terrace cottage dates back to the late 1600s and is full of history, character and charm including original fireplaces and exposed wooden beams.

During the early 18th century the property was an ale house known as the Bridge Inn and then more recently known as Laburnum Cottage in the late 1800s. Records show that the property had also been a basket makers. The property had been owned by the Duke of Devonshire until sold in approx. the 1900's.

Although in need of modernization, this property presents a fabulous opportunity for buyers with larger than average spacious accommodation comprising: Lounge, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, rear porch and boiler room to the ground floor with three bedrooms, one en-suite, bathroom and separate WC to the first floor.

Externally the property has a small garden to the front and a further yard to the rear with brick built outhouse.

Benefitting from gas central heating.

Viewing is highly recommended.
