Beck House is a remarkable residence of scale, presence and versatility. The approach is immediately striking; a sweeping driveway leads to a generous turning circle and forecourt, creating a superb sense of arrival.

Internally, the house has been meticulously renovated by the current owners to an exacting standard, perfectly balancing character features with a contemporary, design-led finish. The ground floor offers a series of elegant and highly adaptable reception spaces. At its heart is a stunning bespoke dining kitchen, designed for both everyday living and entertaining, featuring a central island, quartz worktops, premium appliances and seamless access to the outdoor terrace. A formal lounge with multi-fuel stove provides a more intimate retreat, while three further reception rooms offer excellent flexibility for family living, work or leisure. Practicalities are well considered, with a utility room, boiler room and a downstairs guest WC/cloakroom.

The accommodation across the upper floors is equally impressive. The first floor hosts a collection of beautifully proportioned dual-aspect double bedrooms alongside a luxurious house bathroom. A separate wing provides further versatility, ideal for guest accommodation, independent living or workspace. The second floor is dedicated to an outstanding principal suite; an expansive, light-filled sanctuary with vaulted ceilings, exposed beams, a dressing room, walk-in wardrobe and a substantial, spa-like bathroom.

Positioned within the grounds, the detached two-bedroom cottage is a significant asset. Fully self-contained and finished in a stylish, modern design, the cottage comprises a well-equipped dining kitchen, living area, WC, bathroom and two double bedrooms. This space offers superb flexibility, whether for guests, a teenager's retreat or as an income-generating opportunity.

Externally, the grounds are a defining feature of the property. Accessed via a lengthy private driveway (with a conduit in place for electric gates), the property sits within approximately 1.55 acres of well-maintained gardens. A large turning circle and parking forecourt lead to the integral garage with electric roller door. The grounds offer a high degree of privacy, breathtaking valley views and extensive level lawns, formerly home to a tennis court. They also present exciting potential for further development, such as a leisure suite or swimming pool, subject to the necessary consents. A large tiered deck, accessed from the main living areas, provides the perfect setting for outdoor entertaining.

Located in the highly regarded village of Rawdon, the property enjoys a perfect balance of rural tranquillity and excellent connectivity. Nearby rail stations and Leeds Bradford Airport make commuting straightforward, while a range of local amenities, reputable schools and scenic walks are all within easy reach.

A home that offers exceptional living today, with exciting potential for the future.
