DESCRIPTION

This outstanding modern house, located in Thorpe St Andrew and close to Woodrow Pilling Park (extending into the Lion Wood) is approached along a shared, steep and winding private drive and has its own gated entrance. Originally part of the grounds of The Oaks, the site was sub-divided into four plots and Ridge House stands on the brow of a hill where Roman period antiquities were discovered in 1863.

Built to a unique design, the specification includes several high-tech features including areas of mood lighting, camera security, and air source heat pump source radiator heating. With electric underfloor heating to the ground floor the PV solar panels provide electricity with battery storage. The clever design with insulated concrete external walls faced with render and paneling gives good heat control for both summer and winter conditions, achieving an excellent band B rating for the EPC. Laid out on separate levels the accommodation is well thought out and allows a great flexibility of use, and would support working from home and multi generation living. The main house has five and potentially up to seven bedrooms which are complemented by five shower rooms and a bathroom, all with W.Cs. The current layout is capable of alteration to suit a new owner's use including studio, gym and office use and potentially separate living areas, internally it showcases purpose made stairs exposed to the accommodation, set against brick feature walls. The rooms facing the rear garden have large patio doors, some of the bedrooms feature Juliet balconies with inward opening glazed doors, corner windows to many rooms allow light to flood in and the master bedroom on the top floor has an external breakfast balcony.

The central single storey section enjoys large entrance hall, separate plant and hub room, and a spacious and light sitting area. The north and south wings rise to three and two storeys respectively plus the basement are at the north end where a wide stairway leads to the cinema or music room, a space perfect for entertainment and complete with its own bar, kitchenette and cloakroom.

Incorporating part of the good sized dining room the north wing includes the well fitted kitchen with gas cooker, a central island and breakfast space, off from which there is an inner utility room with plenty of storage. From the first floor landing there are two double bedrooms, one offering a shower room en-suite with the other sharing the family bathroom where you can soak and gaze out of the windows. The whole of the second floor is given over to the master bedroom suite incorporating the good sized shower en-suite, dressing room and door leading to outside terraced area walled on two sides and creating the perfect sun trap.

At the south wing, the east room downstairs is designed as a gym with a shower room also serving the sitting area but can double up as a downstairs bedroom, office or library; perhaps even a kitchen. The second room, which was set out as a home office or study, On the first floor there are two bedrooms, both with modern shower en-suites.

Outside the site is not overlooked and the enclosed rear garden includes an ornamental pond, a paved terrace edging the house and lawns, Within the garden is a smart garden room equipped with kitchen and cloakroom. The hard surfaced front driveway gives access to the two adjacent garages with electric roller shutter doors and rear workshop/stores and provides visitor parking. The front garden is mainly laid to lawn but has planted fruit trees, a wooded scrap slopes down to the lane.
