About the Property

Introducing Denford House — an exceptional 17th-century stone-built residence where centuries of character meet refined country living. Occupying approximately two acres within the picturesque village of Denford, this remarkable home offers an enviable lifestyle, complete with beautifully established grounds and its own private tennis court.

Approached through an impressive gated entrance, a sweeping driveway provides extensive parking alongside a carport and sets the tone for what lies beyond.

Internally, Denford House is rich in period charm, complemented by carefully considered modern finishes. The accommodation begins with a practical boot room and traditional scullery, leading through to the gorgeous refitted kitchen/breakfast room, beautifully appointed and opening directly onto the gardens. Both the sitting room and dining room enjoy doors onto the rear grounds, creating a wonderful connection with the outside, while a log-burning stove adds warmth and character to the living space.

The first floor provides exceptional versatility with four/five bedrooms, one of which lends itself perfectly to a private study or home office. The impressive principal bedroom features fitted wardrobes and a stylish en-suite bathroom complete with a statement roll-top bath. A contemporary shower room serves the remaining bedrooms, while a separate games room provides another superb space for family life and entertaining.

Outside is where Denford House truly comes into its own. The grounds are wonderfully green, mature and private, with a substantial patio immediately adjoining the house before giving way to expansive lawns that seem to stretch endlessly into the surroundings. At the heart of the grounds sits the private tennis court, creating a setting made for long summer days and entertaining.

A versatile garage offers further potential, including space for a home gym, while multiple vehicle access points add practicality to this substantial plot.
