The Property

Apartment 54 is a wonderfully bright and spacious three-bedroom maisonette set within the Grade II listed Muller House, offering generous proportions, historic charm and the added luxury of private parking. Steeped in history, Muller House was one of five imposing, barrack-style orphanage buildings established between 1847 and 1870 by Prussian-born pastor and philanthropist George Müller. This particular building served as both his home and headquarters, with the orphanage famously funded entirely through voluntary contributions. Arranged over two floors, the property offers versatile living space with an appealing sense of scale. The ground floor centres around an impressive reception room, where a large window draws in an abundance of natural light, creating a bright and welcoming space to relax or entertain. The separate kitchen is well-sized and thoughtfully fitted with white and green cabinetry, marble-effect worktops and contemporary metro-tiled splashbacks. An electric oven and hob, extractor fan and dishwasher provide everyday practicality, while herringbone-effect flooring adds a stylish finishing touch. Also on the ground floor is a versatile third bedroom, ideal for guests or a home office, alongside a separate WC and a spacious entrance hallway.

Upstairs, two generous double bedrooms provide comfortable retreats, both benefiting from fitted wardrobes. A family bathroom completes the accommodation, featuring a classic white suite with bath and shower over.

Combining exceptional natural light, generous living space and a fascinating heritage, Apartment 54 offers a distinctive home with character in abundance. The added benefit of a dedicated private parking space makes this a particularly appealing find.

Location

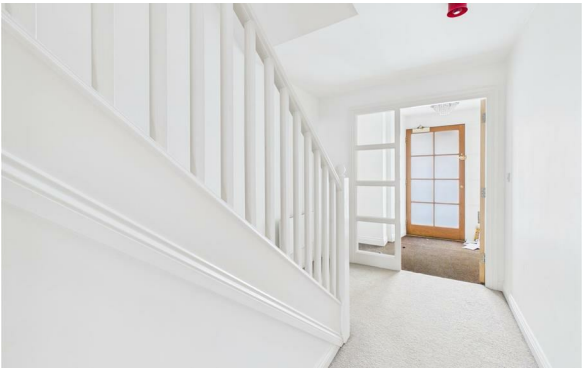

Ashley Down is, understandably, one of the city's most sought-after locations, offering a perfect balance of suburban convenience and access to open green spaces such as St Andrews Park and Muller Road Recreation Ground. The nearby areas of Gloucester Road, Bishopston, and Horfield provide an excellent range of amenities, including supermarkets, independent shops, restaurants, and pubs. The area is also well served by a selection of highly regarded schools, including Ashley Down Primary School, which was rated Outstanding by Ofsted. In addition, Ashley Down benefits from excellent transport links, making it easy to travel both into the city centre and further afield.
