We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

 3 Bedroom  2 Reception  1 Bathroom

48 Avondale Road, Eastbourne, BN22 8JW

An exceptionally refurbished three bedroom Victorian bay-fronted terraced house, combining the charm and character of a period property with the finish and specification of a contemporary home. The property has undergone a comprehensive back-to-brick refurbishment, with essentially everything renewed and finished to an exceptionally high standard. The accommodation retains a wealth of period character, including exposed floorboards and a stylish stair runner, alongside two reception rooms and a stunning high-end integrated kitchen. From the kitchen, Crittall-style double opening doors lead directly onto the beautifully landscaped rear garden, while the contemporary bathroom provides a superb modern finish. The property also benefits from a new boiler, new electrics and extensive refurbishment throughout, offering the rare opportunity to purchase a period home where the major works have already been completed. Situated in the popular Seaside area of Eastbourne, the property is conveniently positioned for an excellent range of local amenities, schools, shops, the seafront and town centre. CHAIN FREE and finished to an exceptional standard, this is a truly impressive Victorian home that needs to be viewed to be fully appreciated.
