SHAMROCK COTTAGE

A 17th Century cottage (not listed) in sought after village location comprising entrance hall, ground floor shower room, breakfast kitchen, utility room, three reception rooms, study, four bedrooms, one with en-suite and family bathroom.

Also benefiting from a beautiful rear garden, garage and parking for three cars, an internal viewing is strongly recommended.

Ground Floor

Upon entering, the hall has a tiled floor, useful coat cupboard, stairs rising to the first floor and a window to the front.

The ground floor also offers a shower room which has a window to the side.

The kitchen has ample workspace, a Belfast sink, space for an oven, fridge and dishwasher, with a window to the rear elevation.

The utility room has space for appliances and a window to the rear. Access to understair cupboard

There is also an inner hall which has tiled floor, a useful storage cupboard and a stable door which opens out to the rear garden.

The dining room is full of character features to include exposed beams, feature fireplace with a window to the front and original range cooker.

The sitting room is of a good size and also has exposed beams, a feature fireplace and windows to the front and rear elevations.

The family room is another lovely and flexible space with windows to the side and rear, and a door to the rear garden, whilst completing the ground floor accommodation is the study which is ideal for anybody wanting to work from home with a wired internet connection.

SELLER INSIGHT

“ Having been cherished by the owners since 2014, Shamrock Cottage has been a truly special family home, combining the timeless charm of a period thatched cottage with the practical comforts of modern living. Having relocated from Australia, the owners were searching for something entirely different from the contemporary home they had left behind—a property full of character, warmth and individuality. They found exactly that in Shamrock Cottage, whose beautiful thatch, original features and peaceful village setting immediately captured their hearts. Equally important was its central location between schools in Buckingham and Aylesbury, together with enough space to accommodate a treasured concert grand piano.

Positioned on the edge of the village, overlooking open fields and hedgerows, the cottage enjoys an idyllic rural outlook while remaining just moments from the heart of the community. The setting offers the perfect balance of tranquillity and convenience, with beautiful countryside walks beginning directly from the front door and the village pub only a few seconds' stroll away.

Character is woven into every corner of the home. Exposed beams, charming fireplaces, twisting staircases and the original range cooker create an atmosphere rich in history, while thoughtful improvements have enhanced everyday comfort. The owners particularly value the cosy sitting room, where the impressive inglenook fireplace provides a welcoming retreat during the winter months, and the dining room, whose period features make it an inviting setting for family meals and celebrations.

One of the home's most appealing qualities is its versatility. Unlike many properties of its age, Shamrock Cottage is not listed, allowing the owners to install double glazing and make carefully considered alterations without many of the usual restrictions. The thatched roof not only enhances the cottage's undeniable charm but also provides excellent natural insulation, keeping the house refreshingly cool during the summer and wonderfully warm throughout the winter. Having previously lived in an open-plan home, the owners came to appreciate the privacy afforded by the individual reception rooms, particularly while raising three teenagers, allowing everyone to enjoy their own space when needed.

The property has evolved alongside the family's lifestyle. Hard flooring has replaced carpets, vegetable gardens have been established, and one of the garages has been thoughtfully converted into a spacious office that also offers excellent potential as a ground-floor bedroom, conveniently positioned beside a shower room. Ample parking has made the property ideal for welcoming visitors and for running a successful private teaching practice from home, while an electric vehicle charger has added modern convenience.

Outside, the gardens have been every bit as important as the house itself. The pergola has become a favourite place to relax, providing welcome shade on warm summer days, while established hedging creates a wonderful sense of peace. The sitting room has also hosted intimate concerts after the owners founded the village choir here, creating lasting memories that perfectly reflect the property's welcoming nature.

Life in Adstock has been equally rewarding. A thriving village community enjoys regular choir rehearsals, fitness classes, community orchard events, book, sports, history and science clubs, the popular Adstocktoberfest and the much-loved Musical Open Gardens. Friendly neighbours, an excellent village pub, highly regarded schools, easy transport links and nearby Buckingham's excellent amenities all combine to create an exceptional lifestyle.

For the owners, what they will miss most is not only this remarkable cottage itself, but also the wonderful sense of community, the glorious countryside walks and the friendships that have made Shamrock Cottage such a special place to call home.”

“Having just purchased my new home through Fine & Country I cannot recommend them highly enough. Terry went above and beyond in ensuring as smooth a transaction as possible. Never once did I have a problem in contacting him, even on days off he still took my calls showing what a dedicated agent he is. I love my new home too much to ever consider selling it but I know who I would use if I was ever considering moving again!! Thanks to Fine & Country, especially Terry, I am now living in my dream home!”
