DERWENTDALE

RYTON VILLAGE

Derwentdale is nestled within a mature, tree-lined site in the heart of Old Ryton Village Conservation Area. This exclusive development features just five executive detached family homes, each finished to the highest standard and set within generous private grounds.

Surrounded by the historic character of Old Ryton Village, Derwentdale offers a rare opportunity to enjoy a peaceful village lifestyle while remaining within easy reach of Newcastle, Gateshead, the Metrocentre and the wider Tyne Valley.

Long regarded as one of the area's most appealing residential locations, Ryton combines period charm, mature landscapes and a strong sense of community, with wooded slopes leading towards the River Tyne.

1 Ferndene Play Area

A friendly local play spot for younger families, Ferndene Play Area offers space to pause, play and enjoy a quieter corner of Old Ryton Village close to neighbouring streets.

2 The Half Moon Inn

A traditional village pub with a welcoming feel, The Half Moon Inn adds character to Old Ryton, offering a familiar stop for drinks, conversation and relaxed community gatherings.

3 Elvaston Coffee

Elvaston Coffee brings an independent café feel to the village, serving as a relaxed place for coffee, light bites and catch-ups while exploring Old Ryton's historic streets.

4 Ye Olde Cross Inn

Community-owned and family-run in the heart of Old Ryton, Ye Olde Cross Inn combines traditional pub warmth with local events, street food and a strong neighbourhood spirit.

5 Holy Cross Church

Dating back to the 13th century, Holy Cross Church is Ryton's historic parish church, known for its striking broach spire and peaceful setting beside the village green.

6 Tyneside Golf Club

Established in 1879, Tyneside Golf Club is one of England's oldest clubs, offering a scenic parkland course with mature greens, village views and a welcoming clubhouse atmosphere.

7 Ryton Pinfold

Ryton Pinfold is a small but evocative historic feature, recalling the village's rural past when stray livestock were held safely before being reclaimed by their owners.

8 Community Centre

Ryton's Community Centre provides a practical local hub for clubs, classes, meetings and social events, helping residents of all ages stay connected within the wider village community.

9 Ryton Willows

Ryton Willows is a riverside local nature reserve with woodland, grassland and wildlife-rich ponds, offering peaceful walks and a direct connection to the River Tyne landscape.

About Ryton

Ryton is one of Gateshead's oldest villages, with roots stretching back to medieval times when it formed part of County Durham. Set next to the River Tyne, it developed around its church and surrounding farmland, creating the traditional village pattern still visible today.

At its centre stands Holy Cross Church, a Grade I listed parish church dating from the early 13th century and regarded as Ryton's oldest surviving building. The village green, historic cross and nearby stone houses reflect Ryton's long agricultural and parish history.

During the 18th and 19th centuries, Ryton expanded gradually, with Victorian houses and terraces adding to the older settlement. Its wooded slopes, open spaces and views towards the Tyne helped preserve a rural character even as nearby Tyneside grew industrially.

Today, Ryton remains valued for its conservation area, historic buildings, riverside setting and strong village atmosphere within easy reach of Newcastle and Gateshead.

Family Living

Each property has been carefully considered to provide the space, comfort and quality expected of a premium new home, combining generous accommodation with private gardens, high-quality finishes and a strong emphasis on energy-efficient living.

From the moment you arrive, the homes make an immediate impression. Generous ceiling heights of 2.7m on the ground floor and 2.5m on the first floor enhance the sense of space and light throughout. Traditional detailing, landscaped front gardens, estate railings and block-paved driveways create a refined sense of arrival, while the mature tree-lined setting gives the development a private and established feel.

Inside, the homes are designed around the way people live today - with spacious kitchens, elegant living areas, practical utility spaces, contemporary bathrooms and beautifully appointed bedrooms. Whether entertaining friends, working from home or enjoying relaxed family life, Derwentdale offers a calm, comfortable and highly considered place to call home.

Crafted for Comfort

Every detail of the Derwindale specification has been selected to enhance everyday living, bringing together premium finishes, practical features and future-ready technology within each four-bedroom home. The high ceiling heights create an impressive sense of space, light and openness throughout the homes.

At the heart of each property is a beautifully fitted kitchen, complete with integrated appliances, quartz worktops and carefully planned lighting provision. Designed as both a functional workspace and a sociable family hub, the kitchen offers the quality and convenience expected from a contemporary new home, whether preparing everyday meals or entertaining guests.

Bathrooms are finished with a clean, modern aesthetic, featuring contemporary sanitaryware, vanity units, LED mirror provision and heated towel rails. These details help create elegant, calming spaces that feel both practical and refined.

Designed for Living, Built to Last

Throughout the homes, durable LVT flooring to key living areas is complemented by soft carpeting to bedrooms, landings and living spaces, creating a balance of style and comfort. Brushed metal sockets and switches, dimmer lighting to principal rooms and considered storage within the principal bedroom add to the sense of thoughtful design.

Externally, each home benefits from a block-paved driveway, landscaped front garden, rear patio, turfed garden and close-board timber fencing, providing private outdoor space ready to enjoy from the day you move in.

Derwentdale also places strong emphasis on efficient, future-conscious living, with each home including an air source heat pump, solar panels, 7KW EV charger provision and a predicted EPC Rating of B. This combination may result in upwards of £200 per month in savings to household bills.

The result is a home that feels beautifully finished, easy to live in and built for the expectations of modern family life.
