The generous reception rooms and impressive original marble fireplaces pay homage to a bygone era. Remnants of the building's past can still be seen today with the original butler's pantry, large cellar with wine store, and an impressive library. This property isn't just a home, it's a slice of history waiting to continue its journey into a new chapter.

Inside The Home

Originally built as the centrepiece of the Carus Park Estate in the early 1830s, "Carus Lodge" was divided into two dwellings in the early 2000s. A third property was created from the barn of the original walled garden a short time after and completed the estate's transformation. Whilst the former residence has been divided, Carus Lodge retains many original characteristics of the house and adds to the overall charm of this beautiful setting.

Entered via the original main entrance of this historic home, you are greeted by a grand Entrance Room, showcasing the first of its many historical features. With a large marble fireplace standing proud, the decorative high ceilings and Tudor rose tiled flooring present a warm welcome to this remarkable home. The generous Entrance Hall has a grand staircase leading to the first floor, and access to the living areas of the home. The Living Room provides the perfect backdrop for family and social gatherings, as well as rest and relaxation. With its marble fireplace sitting centrally in the room, gather around this impressive fire and enjoy cosy nights in whilst watching the sun set across the mature gardens from the mullion windows.

The large open plan Kitchen Dining Room provides a subtle nod to this incredible home's past. Stepping into what would have been the butler's pantry, a row of servant bells are displayed. Forming part of the Dining area, this principal room provides a heart of the house. With ample space for a sizeable dining table, prepare delicious family banquets at ease. The Kitchen area adds a timeless feel to this impressive room, with ample storage solutions as well as generous granite worktops. A stunning Aga sits to the rear of the room providing a focal point, with access to a large rear terrace perfect for alfresco dining. A quiet Parlour Sitting Room sits to the rear to the property with a cosy multi-fuel stove and decorative wooden panelling, as well as a separate Utility and ground floor WC.

The space in this home is exceptionally generous and continues to the first floor, where four impressive Bedrooms can be found, all with the original fireplaces. To the front of this home, one of the rooms is currently used as an incredible Library, with its grand mullion windows showcasing views across the Lancashire countryside towards the Forest of Bowland and Clougha Pike. The Principal bedroom has a large five piece ensuite bathroom with ample storage space and a dressing room. Another bedroom overlooks the front lawn and has its own separate dressing room. The family bathroom sits centrally on the Landing and a large decorative sky light allows natural light to cascade through this remarkable home.

Completing the property, a large cellar room provides a dry storage area perfect for a busy family home. With the mechanisms for the oil fired central heating system and an impressive wine cellar, every inch of this home has been carefully thought to provide purchasers with comfort and practicality.
