IF YOU LIVED HERE...

You'd step through your own arched front door and into a welcoming hallway, where the sense of proportion that defines these homes is immediately clear. The open living kitchen space is arranged to feel both sociable and well organised, with ample room to cook, dine and unwind in one connected setting. Large windows frame leafy views towards the park, drawing in natural light and giving the room an easy, airy feel. The kitchen itself is neatly integrated, with shaker style cabinetry, metro tiled splashbacks and timber worktops bringing warmth and texture to the space.

Both bedrooms are well proportioned doubles, each finished in calm, neutral tones and enjoying plenty of daylight. The bathroom continues the considered aesthetic, with vintage inspired tiling and quality fittings that sit comfortably within the home's period setting. To the rear, you have your own section of garden, while the expanse of Lloyd Park is quite literally on your doorstep.

WHAT ELSE?

You're moments from the landscaped grounds, tennis courts, café and the much loved William Morris Gallery, all set within Lloyd Park's historic surroundings.

Around a fifteen minute walk brings you to Walthamstow Central for the Victoria line and Overground, offering swift connections into the City and across London.

Hoe Street and the Village are both within easy reach, with neighbourhood favourites such as Sodo Pizza Walthamstow and Yard Sale Pizza adding to the area's well loved food scene.

A WORD FROM THE OWNER...

"We've loved our time living on Winns Terrace, and it's a home we'll always look back on with great fondness. One of the first things that attracted us was the street itself – it's friendly, peaceful, and has a genuine sense of community. The property is also well connected, with easy access to buses, the tube, and rail links.

The location really is fantastic. Having the park directly across the road has been invaluable, perfect for walks, fresh air, and a welcome bit of green space right on the doorstep. It's something we've made use of regularly and will really miss. Another highlight is the Saturday food market with great food and great coffee."
