THE PROPERTY

Seadown House is a very attractive, individual detached house, together with a detached studio annexe occupying a secluded, elevated position set in large well stocked gardens backing onto fields and enjoying far-reaching views down to the sea and the surrounding countryside. The house is believed to date back to 1953 and under the current ownership since 2009, has been subject to extensive refurbishment to a very high standard.

The property is well appointed with oil-fired central heating, timber and uPVC anthracite grey sealed unit windows, wood burner to the sitting room, which flows to the well equipped kitchen with contemporary units, solid ash work surfaces, stoneware sink and comprehensive appliances (Stoves range cooker, integrated fridge, integrated dishwasher), LED downlighters, utility with extensive units and stoneware sink, a further and quality en-suite shower room and family bathroom with attractive fittings,

The attractive and spacious accommodation enjoys a very sunny predominantly south-facing aspect and character style features include exposed pine floorboards, open Baxi fireplace and double aspects.

The detached garden studio annexe is a further feature and built to a bespoke design under the current ownership, having larch clad elevations with timber sealed unit window. It is, again, very well appointed with all modern amenities including electric convector heating, bespoke kitchenette with solid oak work surfaces, attractive shower room with large walk-in shower, LED downlighters and oak/slate flooring. It is very successfully let through Airbnb (known as The Cabin) generating high revenue.

The extensive, secluded and well stocked, gardens are a further big selling feature of the property together with excellent parking, a large summerhouse/studio and attached double garage.

The accommodation extends to:

The House
Ground floor - Reception hall, 2nd reception/study/office, sitting room, kitchen/dining/family room, lobby, utility, cloakroom.
First floor - Landing with access to attic (pull-down ladder), principal bedroom – bedroom, en-suite shower room and access to large south-facing balcony, two further bedrooms, family bathroom.

The Garden Studio Annexe
Open plan living room/kitchenette/bedroom, shower room.

OUTSIDE

Seadown House is set well back from Stonebarrow Lane and approached over a long part brick paved driveway leading to the attached double garage.

Extensive gardens with large expanses of lawn and interspersed with a wide variety of trees and shrubs, vegetable garden with raised beds and timber shed. The balcony on the first floor has a bridge leading into the large terrace with a fire pit which is perfect for outside dining.

Large timber summerhouse/studio with terrace and views towards Lyme Regis. There are a whole number of paved pathways and terraces.

The gardens back onto open fields and Nation Trust land and enjoy lovely views down to the sea beyond.

The garden studio annexe has its own parking at the bottom of the lane and own garden area.

SITUATION

Seadown House is very well located on the eastern edge of Charmouth and on the western lower slope of the National Trust Stonebarrow Hill and the landmark Golden Cap Estate. It is well placed within easy reach of the village centre and via public footpaths down to the beach.

Charmouth is a very popular coastal village offering an above average range of facilities including local shops, doctors' surgery, chemist, general stores, newsagents, two pubs, cafes, hairdressers, primary school, tennis club and the excellent Blue Flag fossil beach which forms part of the beautiful World Heritage Jurassic Coast. The whole area is designated as one of outstanding natural beauty (AONB), much of which is owned or controlled by the National Trust.

The historic coastal town of Lyme Regis is only a few miles to the west and the thriving market town of Bridport just to the east. The market town of Axminster is also within easy reach, with a mainline rail service to London and the West Country.
