DESCRIPTION

Brass Nappa House is an extremely attractive, double-fronted stone-built property which stands extremely well in the popular village of Low Row. The property retains a wealth of character features throughout including large bay windows, wooden floors, exposed beams and window seats. It has been restored and maintained to an exceptional standard by a local master builder and offers spacious accommodation that enjoys breathtaking south facing views of Swaledale.

The property is entered into a welcoming reception hall with a timber staircase leading up to the first floor, and a limestone-flagged floor. The hallway leads to a large kitchen diner with bay windows to the front, where you can capture the stunning views of Swaledale. The kitchen features a modern dually adjustable AGA, dual ceramic sink, bespoke handmade kitchen units with integrated appliances, marble worksurfaces, an oak-topped island, timber shelves and built in cupboards.

To the other side of the hallway is a well-proportioned living room with large bay window offering panoramic views of the Yorkshire Dales National Park. This charming room features a large log burner set within a stone fireplace, and exposed beams.

Completing the ground floor is a cloakroom which also has plumbing for a washing machine and tumble dryer.

The first floor offers a large master bedroom with bay window capturing the far-reaching views of Swaledale and ensuite bathroom which is accessed downstairs to half landing height. The ensuite has been designed to feature a large rolltop bath and separate walk-in shower as well as a wash basin and wc. It features tongue and groove paneling adding to the property's character as well as a window to the private rear garden.

The landing with restored wooden flooring offers a window seat with picturesque views of Swaledale. The first floor also offers a second large double bedroom with idyllic views from a large bay window which is complemented by an ensuite featuring shower, washbasin and WC. Completing the first floor is a third double bedroom which is currently used as a snug featuring a log burner and patio doors leading to the elevated garden.

The property is complemented externally by gardens to the side and rear of the property as well as patio area which currently hosts a covered dining area and hot tub. The gardens lead to a large orchard with established fruit trees. The property also benefits from a range of outbuildings, including a summerhouse with extensive views of picturesque Swaledale, a two-story stone outbuilding currently used for storage, although there is planning potential for a separate annex. Completing the outbuildings is a studio space that has electricity, water, and heating.
